THE INFLUENCE OF THE FAMILY UPON THE DEVELOPMENT OF CHILDREN
IN ST. JOHN BAPTIST CHURCH, KALAYMYO, MYANMAR

A Thesis Presented to

The Faculty of Asia-Pacific Nazarene Theological Seminary (APNTS)

In Partial Fulfillment of the Requirements for the

Degree of Master of Arts in Religious Education

Holistic Child Development

By

Naomi Ni Em

September 17, 2018
WE HEREBY APPROVE THE THESIS

SUBMITTED BY

NAOMI NI EM

ENTITLED

THE INFLUENCE OF THE FAMILY UPON THE DEVELOPMENT OF CHILDREN

IN ST. JOHN BAPTIST CHURCH, KALAYMYO, MYANMAR

AS PARTIAL FULFILLMENT OF THE REQUIREMENTS FOR THE DEGREE

MASTER OF ARTS IN RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

(HOLISTIC CHILD DEVELOPMENT)

Dr. Nativity A. Petallar  Dr. Catherine Stonehouse
Thesis Adviser  Date  External Reader  Date

Dr. Peggy Oldham  Dr. Lynn Shmidt
Faculty Reader  Date  Faculty Reader  Date

Dr. Dick Eugenio  Dr. Bruce E. Oldham
Academic Dean  Date  President  Date
ABSTRACT

This case study explored the perceptions of the selected children in St. John Baptist Church, Kalaymyo, Myanmar, on the influence of their families upon their holistic development. Specific factors were investigated to explore the experience and perceptions of the selected respondents on the influences of their families upon their lives.

The respondents were 10 to 12 years old from families who have been regular members of the St. John Baptist Church in Kalaymyo, Myanmar. They were chosen using the purposive sampling method. Three research methodologies were used to gather data, namely, semi-structured interview, observation, and drawings of the children. These avenues provided the information on the influence of the families upon the spiritual, intellectual, physical, and social development of the children.

Based on the findings of this research conducted, the following conclusions were drawn. Spiritually, this study found that there is less intentionality on the part of the parents and siblings to conduct devotions, read Bible stories, and discuss about spiritual matters in the context of the home. Intellectually, the family had affected a very positive influence upon the selected children. In fact, in the study, this is the most positive area where the selected children indicated where the family really helped them through helping and supporting their educational needs. Physically, the study revealed that the height and weight of the selected children was not up to the standards set forth by the World Health Organization (WHO). Socially, the family has helped the children’s development on having right relationships with others through their encouragement and guidance. The respondents have learned how to show respect towards the elderly, how to help and love others in their school, church, and community.

Based on the findings of the study, the following recommendations are offered to the parent. First, for the spiritual needs of the children, the parents need to be aware that the home is a place of parental teaching and child learning. Second, for the intellectual needs of the children, the parents need to be commended on a job well done in the area of helping their children with their intellectual pursuits. Third, since the study revealed that the height and weight of the selected children in the study was not up to the standards set forth by World Health Organization (WHO); the family can help the children through providing meals, clothes, and health care, enough sleep and regular exercise, and time to play with other children. Finally, for their social needs, the parents need to exercise equality on their treatment of each child as the respondents indicated that they felt that there is favoritism in the family.

Finally, the following are some of the recommendations for further studies: (1) A qualitative study on the perceived influence of the church upon parenting in Myanmar; (2) A quantitative study on the differences of the self-perceptions of holistic development between boys and girls; and (3) A qualitative study on the impact of grandparents upon children’s holistic development in Myanmar.
COPYRIGHT STATEMENT

(1) The author of this thesis (including any appendices) owns any copyright in it (the “Copyright”) and she has given Asia-Pacific Nazarene Theological Seminary the right to use such Copyright for any administrative, promotional, educational and/or teaching purposes.

(2) Copies of this thesis, either in full or in extracts, may be made only in accordance with the regulations of the Sue Fox Library and Asia-Pacific Nazarene Theological Seminary. Details of these regulations may be obtained from the Librarian. This page must form part of any such copies made.

(3) The ownership of any patents, designs, trademarks and any all other intellectual property rights except for the Copyright (“the Intellectual Property Rights”), which may be described in this thesis, may not be owned by the author and may be owned by third parties. Such Intellectual Property Rights and Reproductions cannot and must not be made available for use without the prior permission of the owner(s) of the relevant Intellectual Property Rights and/or Reproductions.

(4) Further information on the conditions under which disclosure, publication and exploitation of this thesis, the Copyright and any Intellectual Property Rights and/or Reproductions described in it may take place is available from the Research Department of Asia-Pacific Nazarene Theological Seminary.

DECLARATION

No portion of the work referred to in the thesis has been submitted in support of an application for another degree or qualification of this or any other university or other institute of learning.

Naomi Ni Em
(author)
March, 2019
Date
DEDICATION

This thesis is dedicated to the families and different congregations of St. John Baptist Church, Kalymyo, Myanmar who were willing to help me through this thesis.

This thesis is also dedicated to my dearest Mother Thawng Nawn who gave me a wonderful childhood that I would always cherish even though she left soon and now only lives in my heart and in my memory.
ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I owe my gratitude to God and all those people who helped me made this thesis possible. The accomplishment of this thesis for an M.A.R.E degree and all the experiences during this course of time is something that I will cherish forever. I thank God for giving me strength throughout my studies here at Asia-Pacific Nazarene Theological Seminary. I thank God for His love and goodness and for helping me to complete what He has begun in me.

My deepest gratitude to my advisor, Dr. Nativity Abecia Petallar, for her kind supervision and invaluable guidance towards the accomplishment of my thesis. Her patience and support helped me to persevere when times were challenging for me. My heartfelt thanks go to my mother church, St. John Baptist Church, Kalaymyo, Myanmar for their constant prayer, encouragement and support. I also thank the families who participated in the case studies.

I would like to express my deepest gratitude to my father for supporting me in every way and being there for me every time I need him and to my family for their help and prayers.

I thank my panel Dr. Peggy Oldham, Dr. Floyd Cunningham, Dr. Phil Davis, Dr. Lynn Shmidt, Dr. Catherine Stonehouse and Dr. Dick Eugenio for their insightful comments and well-reasoned opinions towards my research which helped me focus on my idea, encouraging me to move further and complete this research.

I am grateful to Miss Noreen Villareal Del Rosaario, the Library Director, for supporting me exhaustively with resources.
I would like to acknowledge Ning Ngaih Lian and Connie Armstrong for editing and proofreading my work.

I thank all my friends for their love and care, their friendship and I deeply appreciate their trust and belief in me. Above all else, I would like to express my gratitude to all who supported me financially throughout my course of studies.
TABLE OF CONTENTS

TITLE PAGE ........................................................................................................................................... i
SIGNATURE PAGE ............................................................................................................................... ii
ABSTRACT .................................................................................................................................................. iii
COPYRIGHT STATEMENT ....................................................................................................................... v
DEDICATION ............................................................................................................................................. vi
ACKNOWLEDGMENT ............................................................................................................................. vii
TABLE OF CONTENTS ......................................................................................................................... ix
LIST OF FIGURES ....................................................................................................................................... xii
LIST OF TABLES ......................................................................................................................................... xiii

CHAPTER I: THE PROBLEM AND ITS BACKGROUND ................................................................. 1
   Background of the Problem.................................................................................................................... 1
   Background of Family Life in Myanmar ............................................................................................... 4
   Theoretical Framework ......................................................................................................................... 7
   Conceptual Framework ....................................................................................................................... 10
   Statement of the Problem .................................................................................................................... 10
   Significance of the Study .................................................................................................................... 13
   Assumptions .......................................................................................................................................... 14
   Definition of Terms .............................................................................................................................. 14
   Scope and Delimitations of the Study ................................................................................................. 15

CHAPTER II: REVIEW OF RELATED LITERATURE AND STUDIES ............... 17
   The Nature and Importance of the Family ........................................................................................... 17
   The Biblical Concept on the Role of the Family in Holistic Child Development ........................... 24
Aspects of Child Development in Light of Jesus’ Growth as Portrayed in Luke 2:52

CHAPTER III: RESEARCH METHODOLOGY AND PROCEDURES

Method of the Study
Sources of Data
Research-Gathering Procedures
Data-Gathering Instruments
Treatment of Data

CHAPTER IV: PRESENTATION, ANALYSIS, AND INTERPRETATION OF DATA

Case Study One: Biak Sang
Case Study Two: Cungte
Case Study Three: Par Mawi
Case Study Four: Cerboih
Case Study Five: Ngunte

Integrated Summary on the Perceptions of the Selected Children, Ages 10 to 12 on the Influence of the Family Upon Their Holistic Development

CHAPTER V: SUMMARY, FINDINGS, CONCLUSIONS, AND RECOMMENDATIONS

Summary
Findings of the Study
Conclusions
Recommendations
LIST OF FIGURES

Figure 1: Theoretical Framework................................................................. 9
Figure 2: Conceptual Framework.................................................................. 11
Figure 3: Bronfenbrenner's Ecological Framework....................................... 19
Figure 4: Data-Gathering Procedures............................................................ 47
Figure 5: Drawing of Biak Sang, 11 year-old boy....................................... 53
Figure 6: Drawing of Cungte, 12-year-old boy.......................................... 64
Figure 7: Drawing of Par Mawi, 11-year-old girl....................................... 76
Figure 8 Drawing of Cerboi, 11-year-old girl........................................... 85
Figure 9: Drawing of Ngunte, 10-year-old girl.......................................... 96
LIST OF TABLES

Table 1: Summary of Biak Sang’s Profile According to the Research Questions...... 62
Table 2: Summary of Cungte’s Profile According to the Research Questions ........ 73
Table 3: Summary Par Mawi’s Profile According to the Research Questions........ 83
Table 4: Summary Cerboih’s Profile According to the Research Questions .......... 94
Table 5: Summary Ngunte’s Profile According to the Research Questions .......... 104
Table 6: The Impact of the Family on the Spiritual Development of the Selected Children................................................................. 106
Table 7: Some Negative Perceptions of Children........................................ 109
Table 8: Ways in Which the Family Impacts the Intellectual Development of the Five Selected Children.................................................. 110
Table 9: Perceptions of Selected Children on Provision of School Supplies....... 110
Table 10: Ways in Which the Family Impacts the Physical Development of the Five Selected Children...................................................... 112
Table 11: Perceptions of Selected Children on Their Health Issues.................. 113
Table 12: Ways in Which the Family Impacts the Social Development of the Five Selected Children...................................................... 115
Table 13: Perceptions of Selected Children on Their Social Experiences with the Family ................................................................. 115