The 1939 D A R D A

This book is presented by the student body with the hope that it may convey to the reader something of the scope of the year's activities. It is earnestly desired that this yearbook shall fill well its place in the continuous progress of Trevecca, and that it shall serve as a marker from which we may, in future years, measure the progress that has been made.

PROFESSOR M. E. REDFORD

To Professor M. E. Redford the 1939 DARDA is dedicated with sincere gratitude for his unselfish, sacrificial service often rendered under trying handicaps, for his genial companionship, for his thorough, scholarly example, for the earnestness of his message and the genuineness of his Christian life, for his great faith and his constant exaltation of the Bible as the Word of God.

Two things are associated with Mr. Redford's name, the Bible and the history of the Nazarene Church. He makes the Bible the focal point of all his teachings, and the highest court of appeals on every question. He is the best authority on the history, trends, and dangers of the church; all who know him are aware of the fact that he is an ardent lover of it and a staunch defender of its every interest.

We admire his full, systematic mind, we marvel at his perseverance, and we endeavor to follow his splendid example of keeping vital contact with God and of striving toward a more perfect manifestation of the mind of Christ.

Trevecca's Own M R . M A C K E Y . .

Serenity, deliberation, patience, self-control, fortitude, courage, untiring energy, efficiency, inoffensive sternness, unfailing kindness, straightforward sincerity, contentment, thoughtfulness of others, vision, profundity of knowledge and wisdom—all these and more we see beautifully blended in the harmonious personality of Mr. Mackey. In him we recognize a man with a worthwhile contribution and an extraordinary ability for imparting it to others. Originality, uniqueness, vivid presentation, and dynamic personality make his lectures at once interesting, gripping, stirring, elevating, and refreshing.

Mr. Mackey challenges us so forcibly and irresistibly that we feel that nothing is impossible. By his example and teachings the students are inspired to prepare to fit pleasantly, smoothly, contentedly, and successfully into any situation in life; to build a philosophy of life which eliminates unnecessary worry; and to develop attitudes which enable them to take whatever may come and utilize it towards building and living better lives.

In the heart of every student are respect, appreciation, admiration, and love for our President. Our common desire is that many more young people may have their lives enriched by contact with Trevecca's Mr. Mackey.

CAMPUS SCENES

Trevecchia students take a civic pride in their campus. There is a marked improvement yearly in buildings and landscape. Adjoining city limit, on beautiful hill, our ideal location and surroundings are conducive to study.

TREVECCA IN THE REALM OF MUSIC • •

D. A. Yarbrough presented Miss Virginia Mims in voice certificate recital
April 3, 1939.

A PIANO LESSON IN T. N. C.

More and more, as the years go by, Trevecca's music department is making itself known. Recently a radio announcer said, "Trevecca Nazarene College is putting out more music than any other college in Nashville." The strains of our music are being heard not only in Nashville but also in the most remote sections of our educational zone. Long may the melodies of T. N. C. ring out!

THE ART OF EXPRESSION

"Speak the speech, I pray you, as I pronounced it to you, trippingly on the tongue; but if you mouth it, as many players do, I had as lief the town-crier spoke my lines."

TYPEWRITERS CLICK

"We dare not do less than our best in all things, no matter how small, for progress comes in the perfection of little things."

WARM COMPANIONSHIPS

"Without good company, all dainties lose their true relish, and, like painted grapes, are only seen, not tasted."

A BIT OF SOCIAL LIFE

"Laughter and friendly talk successively stole their hours away."

"The heights by great men reached and kept
Were not attained by sudden flight,
But they, while their companions slept,
Were toiling upward in the night."

The man who expects to be happy must have something to do, something to look forward to, and someone to love. So it is with the man who has a task that is honorable, whether it be before the eyes of the public or in obscurity. If we do the smaller task well today, tomorrow we will have opportunity to do a greater work.

"Let us, then, be up and doing,
With a heart for any fate:
Still achieving, still pursuing,
Learn to labor and to wait."

SPREADING THE GOSPEL

To comprehend the constituency and scope of the Christian Workers' Association is to receive a clearer comprehension of Trevecca Nazarene

College. It means a better understanding of the purpose and desires of the present administrative officers. Each aspect of our college life is maintained because it fills a definite place in an infinitely worthwhile program, the building of durable and useful Christian character and personality, and the effective spreading of the gospel. The provision for and encouragement of our extensive Christian work only signify the intense desire to provide a thoroughly Christian atmosphere and to aid in the spiritual welfare and development of every student. The amount of effective Christian work actually done by the students speaks so loudly and clearly of the splendid opportunities for service and training utilized by both prospective laymen and ministers, that any fair-minded person must take note and be glad, recognizing the service being rendered both to the gospel and to the Church of the Nazarene.

To observe Trevecca students earnestly engaged in the regular gospel work, to see the motivating love and soul passion in those hearts, should convince anyone of their perfect consecration and their possession of a vital salvation. Here one sees the

One thousand souls for Christ last year—1,250 converts set as goal for this year—100 students engaging in Christian service weekly—32 services conducted regularly each week end, besides help in church work—250 to 300 in one institution hearing gospel on Sunday morning—215 in another institution enjoying ministry of Trevecca students.

Scriptural plan of gospel propagation being followed; not only ministers, but all, are witnesses. In other words, emphasis is placed on providing Christian training for laymen as well as for ministers.

It is an inevitable truth that to maintain one's spiritual status he must keep busy for Christ. So Trevecca's gospel work, unusual in quality and extent, is of great value to those participating; its benefits are greater stability, deeper spirituality, and a better development of the soul and its capacities. Again we see that the best way to help self is to help others. It is needless to mention the effect on the college, for the general spirituality is dependent upon that of the individuals.

The Christian service rendered by the students is of a high caliber, well organized and divinely blessed. That this kind of work is worthwhile is evident from the results. The recipients of these efforts manifest their interest and express their appreciation.

Even in the face of the immediate good that is being done, no one can doubt that the greatest contribution of our Christian work is the preparing of individuals to labor more effectively in the Master's service.

For this express purpose was Trevecca Nazarene College Founded. To that end she is continuing to serve in a very noble manner.

A C H E S A N D A I L M E N T S

M E D I C A L A T T E N T I O N

Miss Bessie Seay, Trevecca's nurse, was formerly a Nazarene missionary to both India and Africa. From the standpoint of qualifications for her present position we consider ourselves fortunate. Her pure character and fervent spirit, enriched by years of useful service, sprinkled with varied experiences, constitute a real asset to our college.

Miss Seay was a Trevecca student in the early days of the institution. She is one of the fifty-five missionaries who have gone to foreign fields from Trevecca. We are indeed happy that she can make a contribution towards maintaining the missionary spirit which has continually characterized our school.

Her jolly companionship is enjoyed as much as some of her medicine is detested. By many of the students she is affectionately called "Aunt Bessie."

Those who read these pages should receive added inspiration toward investing in Christian education. No thinking person with the proper information doubts that an investment in Christian education will yield dividends above most other investments. The wealth of the world is dependent upon training. The savage may be hungry and cold in spite of the fertile soil on which he lives or the dense forest through which he wanders or the diamonds in the rough which toughen his bare feet. The wealth of eternity is dependent upon Christian training. The majority of the people carry an awful burden of sin in spite of the provision for abundant pardon; they suffer the results of a carnal nature in spite of a provision in the will of God for its eradication; they suffer the results of bankruptcy and uncertainty of business and take no advantage of the opportunity to "Lay up treasures in Heaven where moth and rust doth not corrupt." May we not underestimate the wealth of the world, but may we invest to our limit in things eternal.

FOLLOW THE GLEAM

'Twas dark and late, and all was still
From wood and vale and tree and hill;
But though I tried I could not sleep,
For through my mind began to creep
A thousand thoughts from out the day
'With such peculiar stealth that they Seemed weird; then deathly silence—

Through my window shone a light—
Mystic—strange—unearthly—bright—
Beckoning and calling me
To follow it eternally.

I rose and followed on,
Not knowing what I'd come upon.
Near the road I heard a cry—
A sob so weak 'twas more a sigh.
Kneeling in the weeds, I found
A little child upon the ground.
I picked it up and bore it down
To a little house at the edge of town
Where all the neighbors stood around
The weeping mother whose child I'd found.
"My child," she cried, "my baby child!
Thank God, you're here!" Her joy was wild.
"Father, I thank Thee."

I looked again. The gleam was gone,
But in its place there was a crown
All set with stars and diamonds rare,
And I could feel that God was there.
The vision faded then from me.
I went to sleep—awoke to see
Another day in which to live
And work and play and pray and give.
Father, I thank Thee.

Senior Class, it's thrown to us,
This holy challenge of the Gleam.
Shall we betray this sacred trust,
Or shall we follow, follow on—
Follow the Gleam?
IMOGENE MACKEY, Class Poet.

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

As knights in days of old followed the gleam of the chalice that was the grail, so did a group of us students follow the gleam of the torch thrown to us by the men and women who had climbed the stairway before us, and enter Trevecca Nazarene College in the fall of 1937.

For our Freshman year we chose the following as our leaders: Adron Hollins, president; Clara Bohler, vice-president; Elizabeth Gray, secretary and treasurer; and Miss Amy Person, sponsor.

The first outstanding event of the year was the reception which the Seniors gave us on October 22 at Centennial Park. In spite of the rain we enjoyed the evening, though while eating we did have to shelter ourselves under the tables.

Through the patience and understanding of our teachers, we passed the first two quarters of school, and then came our preparation for the Freshman-Senior Banquet. We could not give the graduating class the entertainment they deserved, but we did our best to offer them a good time in the imitation garden set-up of the dining room. Through the

"And we who would serve the King,
And loyally Him obey,
In the consecrate silence know
That the challenge still holds today:
Follow, follow, follow the gleam,
Standards of worth o'er all the earth,
Follow, follow, follow the gleam
Of the light that shall bring the dawn."

suggestion of our president, we even had a moon!

Examinations brought the close of school and the members of our class scattered over the several states of our school zone.

On September 19, we again assembled at T. N. C. We were sorry to have lost a few of our members, but glad to welcome several new ones.

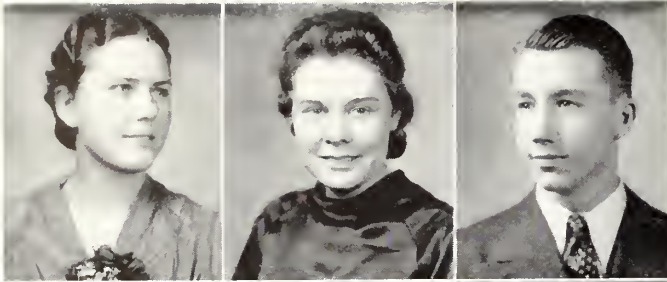

In October we met and elected our officers: Adron Hollins, president; Marie Olive, vice-president; Orine Cypert, secretary; Elmer Alford, treasurer; and Professor A. B. Mackey, sponsor. We were determined "To Do Something Different."

Our first opportunity to do differently came on October 10, when the Freshmen walked to their reception two and one-half miles from school.

Through trials, tribulations, joys, and pleasures we have passed this Senior year and now we leave perhaps not a thrilling history to relate to outsiders, but every part of it is dear to us, and as we leave these halls of learning we shall look forward to an alumni career of even greater glory.

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

In reminiscing we turn back the pages of time to the year 1935, when a class of twelve boys and girls entered Trevecca High School. As we launched forth on a four years' journey we were as green as all other Freshmen, but had many good times. In October we enjoyed a reception given by the Sophomores. As the year closed we looked back to pleasant memories and forward to another year at Trevecca.

The next year only two of the former class members returned. This would have been a small class, but thirteen new members were added.

As we entered our Junior year we brought only five members from our Sophomore Class, but again our number was increased by an addition of thirteen new members. Roy Parsons was elected president of the class. He was a capable leader and helped us to succeed. We had many happy times, but the most outstanding was entertaining the Seniors. We worked faithfully to do our best toward giving them a good time.

The days slipped away fast, and school closed once again for vacation. Eight of our class came back to begin our Senior year, and ten new students were added. We elected Harvey Hendershot president.

On the 31st of October, we gave the Juniors a Halloween reception.

We hope that we have been a blessing to the school this year and that we have left behind pleasant memories. And so, forgetting those things which are behind and reaching forth unto those things which are before, we strive to live by our motto, "We press toward the mark."

JEWEL WALKER, Class Historian.

CLASS POEM

I'll run the race He wants me to—
No matter what the length;
I'll play the game and do His will—
And look to Him for strength.

I'll say those things which honor Him—
And strive to be His own;
I'll be all that He wants me to,
And just keep pressing on.

—Sidney Luther.

LADIES' GLEE CLUB

Like the beauty in her face,
And the melody in her heart,
The Ladies' Glee Club has a place,
And each one is doing her part.

"Purer in heart, O God, help me to be,"
From the Men's Glee Club rings,
Character and exuberance of youth you can see
In every song we hear them sing.

MEN'S GLEE CLUB

CHORUS

The Trevecca College Chorus is no longer a group of amateur singers. After listening to it one would say without question that the music department of Trevecca could be classed with that of a four-year college. The Southeastern Educational Zone appreciates the splendid work of Professor D. A. Yarbrough, director of our music department. Three years ago the chorus had approximately thirty-five members; now we have one hundred and five.

PARTHENIAN LITERARY SOCIETY

The Parthenian Literary Society is composed of the college and theological students. It has as its purpose the development of talent, a high standard of culture and refinement, and a spirit of cooperation. Its members, like Parthenius, the Greek poet, are interested in the aesthetic view of life.

OCTAVIAN LITERARY SOCIETY

As a high school society, the Octavian Literary Society has progressed toward efficiency in presenting entertaining yet educational programs. In these programs the students find relaxation from class room routine. Its members receive training that will develop dormant powers and possibilities.

THE GEORGIA CLUB

ONWARD TO A FOUR-YEAR COLLEGE
AND A MILLION-DOLLAR CAMPUS!

This statement is being heard constantly among Treveccans. At the close of school in June, 1938, our students left with the determination to have a part in making Trevecca a bigger and better college. A booster club, composed of the state clubs, had been organized, and its members went out over our educational zone to spread the news that there is a possibility that Trevecca Nazarene College may become a four-year college and have a million-dollar campus. In the boosters' contest the members of the Georgia Club were victors, winning the booster trophy and a fifty-dollar scholarship. Make your club the winner this year!

COMPLIMENTS OF

FIRST CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE

REV. W. M. TIDWELL, Pastor

Chattanooga, Tennessee

QUESTIONNAIRE

Would you mend the break of day?

Are fishes crazy when they are caught in—sane?

Would you throw a rope to a lemon just to get that lemon aid?

Is a baker broke when he is kneading dough?

Is an undertaker's business dead?

Could a river lose its head?
