Trevecca Nazarene College
333 Murfreesboro Road
Nashville, Tennessee 37210
Volume 70

As the tale unfolds, we, the students of Trevecca Nazarene College are busy creating our own personal anecdotes. We do so through education — learning about issues of importance in the classrooms, in forums, and in chapel. We are enlightening one another during long discussions at H.R.H. Dumplins (a.k.a. Village Gardener), Denny's and Blue Sky Court. We are showing our support and spirit by attending and participating in sports and theatre. We are broadening our cultural awareness by visiting the Parthenon, TPAC, and various concerts in the "Music City." We take trolley rides, visit night court, and have picnics at Percy Priest Lake. We are in the process of making history — Our history.

In the years to come we will glance back and the hours we spent here will seem but a brief moment. And so, we record our part of the tale before it is forgotten. We strive to remember because time will not slow its pace.

Story Goes ON

"Screaming in the Rain" — Keri Attig, Angel Spehr, and Karen Wroblewski sing a slightly altered version of Gene Kelly's musical hit. Nikki Agnew, Sherree Sorenson, and Rachelle DeVore provide artificial showers.

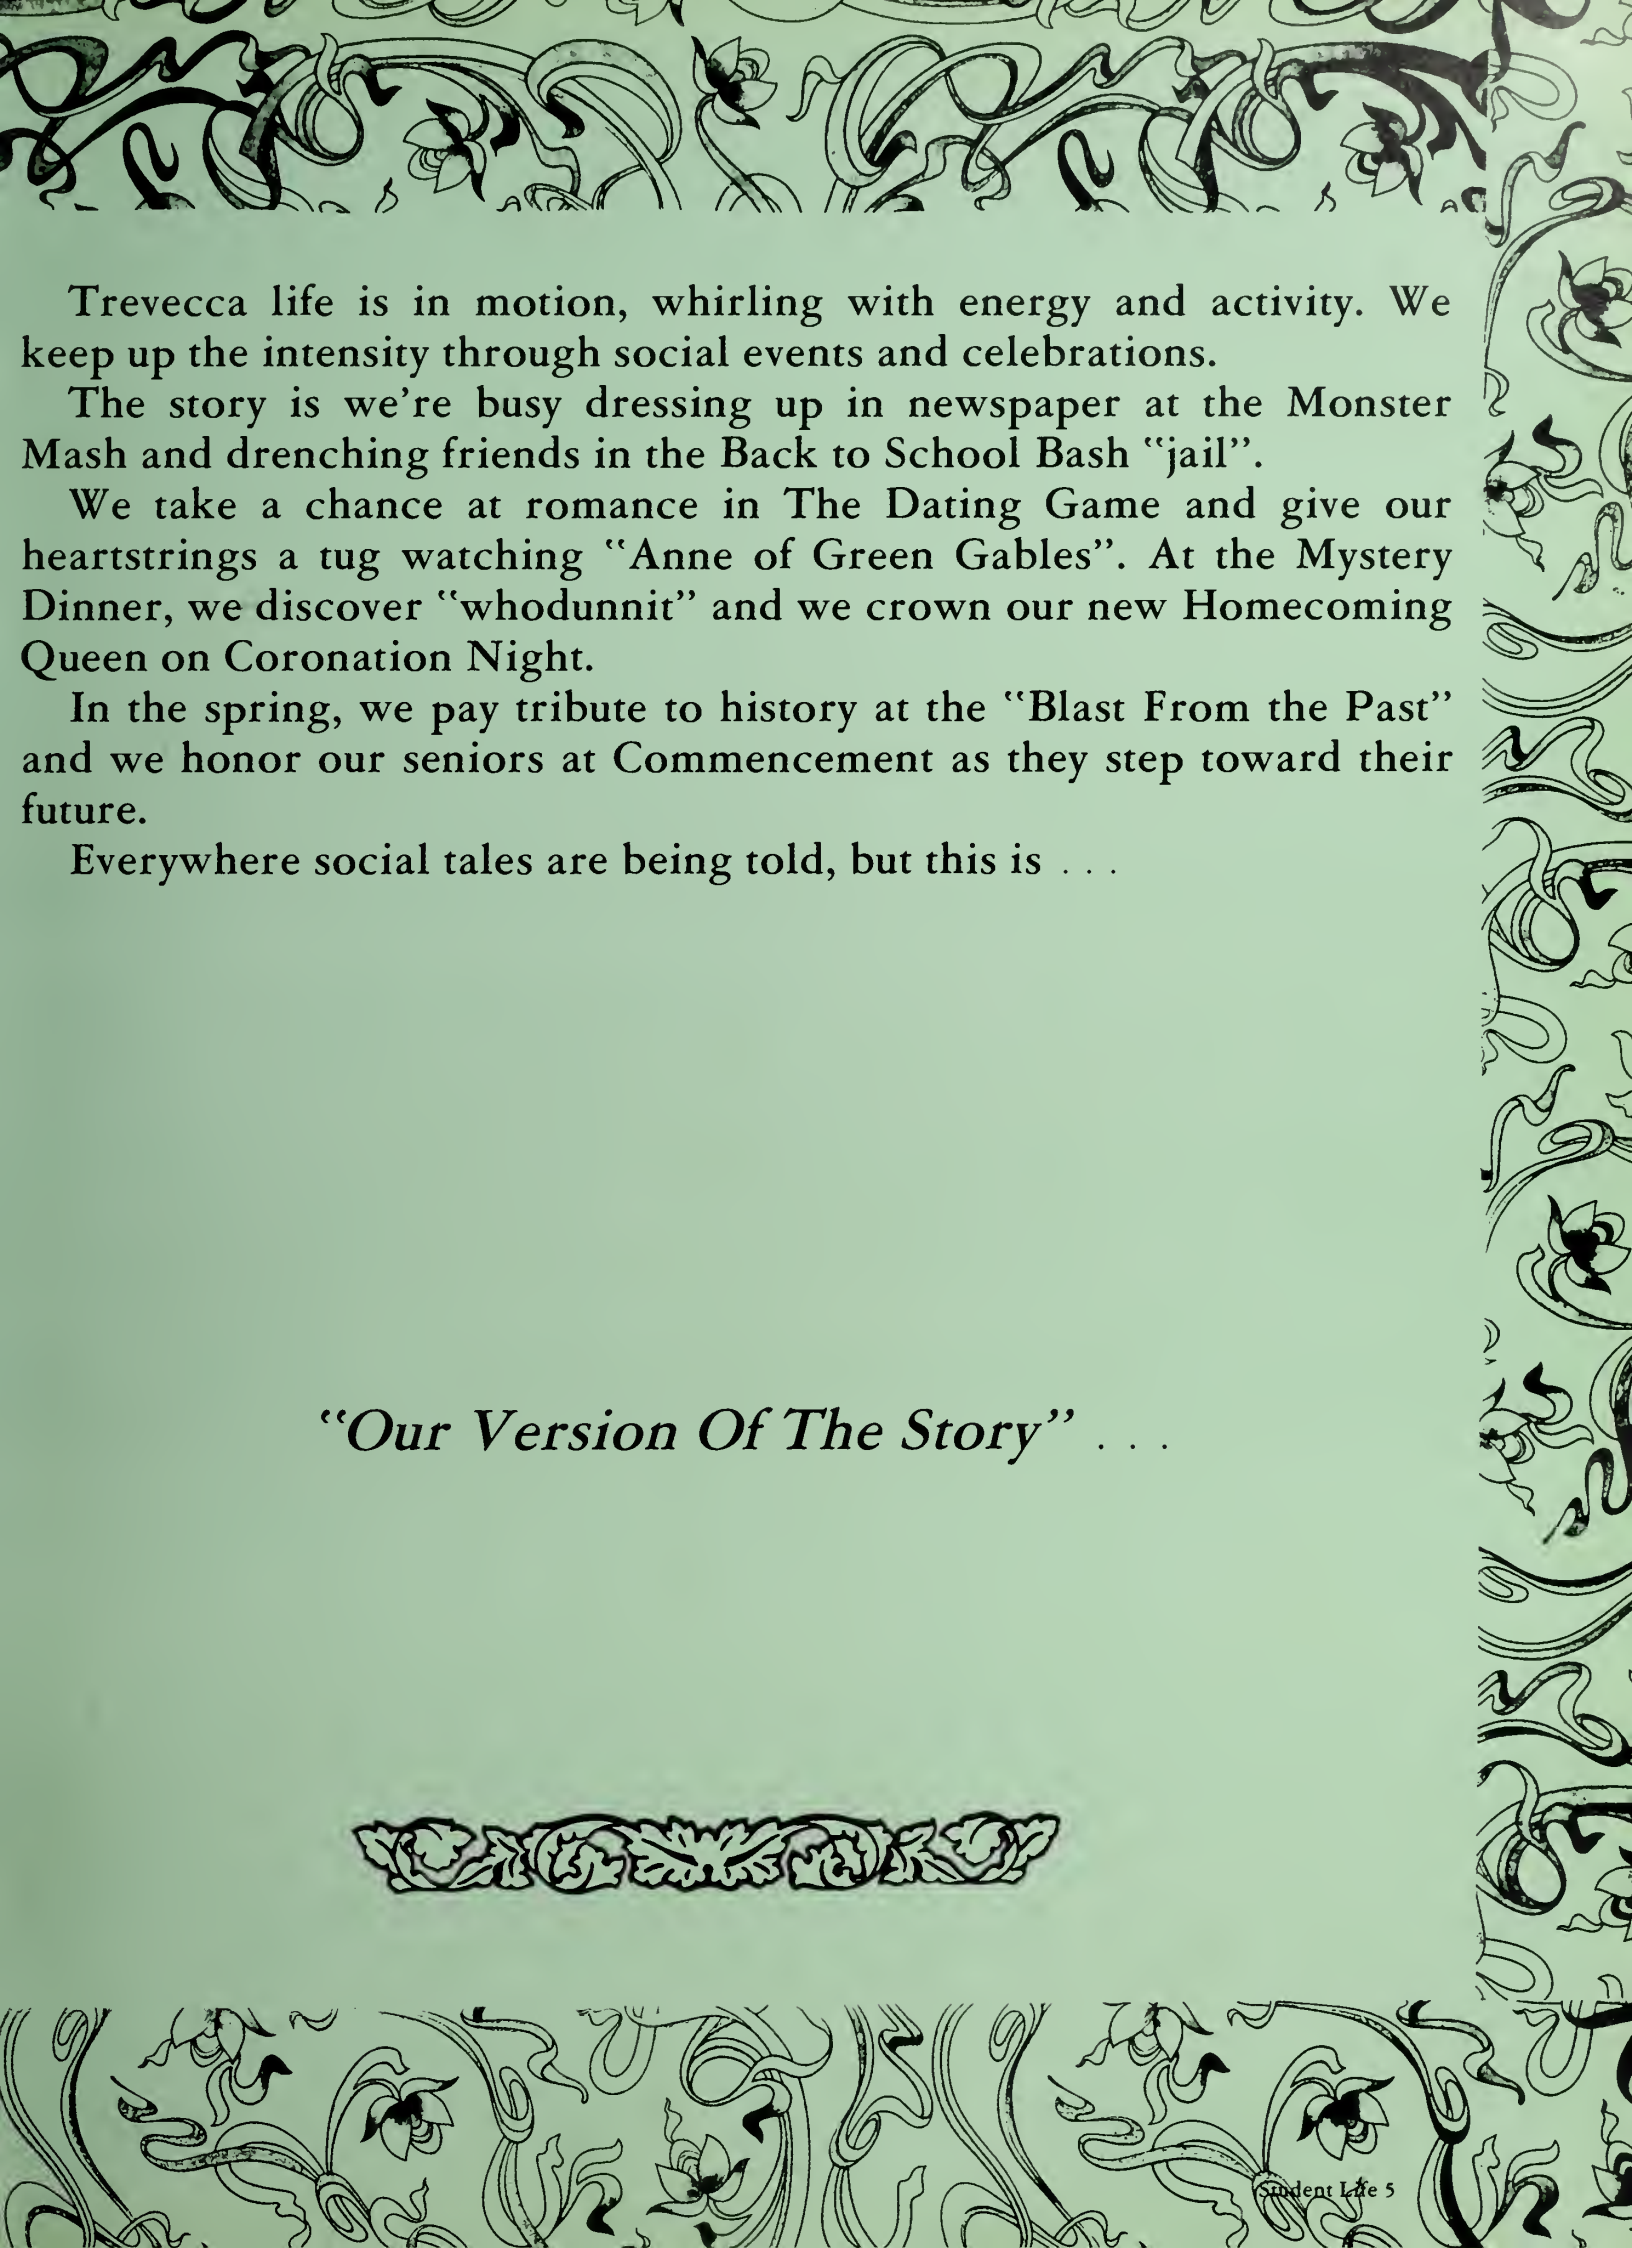

Use #412: The daily news can be reproduced as — a wedding dress!? Why not? In the days of earth friendliness, anything is recyclable, as Tim Schott and Kayla Arnold demonstrate.

Easy sailing!? Jeff Griffin, Kim Sellers, and Jennie Pennell brave the ocean deep during Fall Retreat.

Trevecca life is in motion, whirling with energy and activity. We keep up the intensity through social events and celebrations.

The story is we're busy dressing up in newspaper at the Monster Mash and drenching friends in the Back to School Bash "jail".

We take a chance at romance in The Dating Game and give our heartstrings a tug watching "Anne of Green Gables". At the Mystery Dinner, we discover "whodunnit" and we crown our new Homecoming Queen on Coronation Night.

In the spring, we pay tribute to history at the "Blast From the Past" and we honor our seniors at Commencement as they step toward their future.

Everywhere social tales are being told, but this is . . .

"Our Version Of The Story" . . .

Back-To School Bash

Counter-clockwise from above:

Move over Kate Moss! Marsha Mooney, Beckey Martin, Rachael Ashby, Keri Attig, and Mindy Collier model the latest in Back-to-School attire (all fashions in accordance with dress code regulations, of course). (Photo by Tim Whittaker)

Red Alert! Red Alert Onlookers watch helplessly as the reckless Glenda Ries devours her snow cone in an effort to beat the heat. Little did she realize the risk of BRAIN FREEZE! (Photo by Tim Whittaker)

“I feel that Homecoming was incredible this year! It was again a special time for me to see old friends, but this year I really enjoyed being involved in its planning, too. Between the Junior Class Council and the girls on the court, I met new people, had A LOT of fun, and learned how rewarding it is to be at Trevecca!”

Anne

This year the drama department brought some dynamic productions to the Trevecca stage. In this fall, we were charmed by Anne of Green Gables. The end of winter brought Andrew Lloyd Webber's "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat". The last show of the 1994 season "Smoke on the Mountain" taught us about down home hospitality and back-woods ways. (Photos by Preston Ramsey and Tim Whittaker)

A Question

Does this question seem odd to you? It shouldn't. It is a topic we all, as human beings, encounter. Last year, we had the Tidy Bowl Party, this year we have the hygiene survey. Okay, maybe we are getting a little bit loony here — many of you gave us strange looks when we confronted you around campus. What's wrong? Hasn't anyone ever asked you about toilet paper before?

The first question we asked was, "Do you hang your toilet paper so it falls over the top or under the bottom?" The pie graph on the right gives the results of our inquiry.

Of Hygiene

How long has it been since you've changed your bedsheets? Are you telling the truth?

How long have you ever gone without a shower?

"In middle school, there was a ledge in the cafeteria. We had a traffic light in there, too. When the red light was on, no one was allowed to talk. I was getting up to leave, and I pushed my chair back. I pushed it too far and it went over the ledge. The red light was on so the cafeteria was quiet — except for my chair, it made a loud crash. Everyone stared at me."

Marcie Baird

"When I took my pants off in Chapel."

Sean Poloskey (Referring to his part in the "Jeans for Jesus" announcement in Chapel.)

And two more of you replied . . .

"I fell off the bannister at Opryland Hotel while I was sliding down."

"I used the wrong restroom once and opened the door to find a woman waiting to use it after me."

Come on!
Everyone has done something embarrassing, at least once.
What was your worst,
most humiliating moment?

"My mom set me up with her boss's son 'Bubba', and the date consisted of discussing how to break into the mall!"

Dawn Stokes

"I think no teeth would about do it for me. I mean absolutely none."
Wes Greathouse

"If he's too quiet or turns out to be really insecure. Or if he goes to the other extreme and is very egotistical and chauvinistic. Bad breath probably wouldn't be a good thing either."

Tami Cook

Some of you responded with these depressing scenarios: "going to a restaurant, finishing your meal, and discovering that you don't have enough money to pay"; "going out with your girlfriend and finding her ex-boyfriend seated at the table beside you"; "coming out of the restroom in a restaurant with toilet paper stuck to your shoe". Well, on this discouraging note, has anyone been on a good date lately?

Did you ever eat a meal like this on a date?

It's inevitable. Everyone will have to endure it sooner or later. What is "it"? "It" is the one date on which you wish you had never gone. Some of you have already suffered, others, beware. On this survey, we asked "What is the very worst date scenario you can imagine? Has this scenario ever really happened to you?"

Everyone has their likes and dislikes in life. What are yours? Here at Trevecca (or any college campus, for that matter), we have our share of both. Living in close quarters, we get to know one another fairly well. As the people grow more familiar, the surroundings, events, and way of life do also. Eventually, it all becomes such a part of us that we cannot remember when life was any different.

What Is Your

When asked what your favorite school event (first semester) was, you had quite a variety of responses . . .

Anne of Green Gables (Fall Play) — 13
Homecoming — 6
Fall Break (very funny) — 6
Dating Game — 3
Concert in the Quad — 2
Back-to-School Bash — 2
Accessfest — 2

Chapel. We are there two-three times a week. How does it affect us, influence us? When asked, "What was the most memorable chapel service you've attended, nine of you said when Steve Green spoke, three of you mentioned Jim Diehl, and two of you greatly admire Dr. Stone. One humorous individual, however, said the most memorable chapel was the one where Tim Green kept saying dot, dot, dot . . ."

Favorite?

When Wes Greathouse was asked who/what has made the biggest impression on him at Trevecca, he responded, "Realizing that you learn to live for yourself and the conclusions you draw are the ones you live by. What you become and believe is up to you."

There were a wide variety of responses to this question, but the most popular reply was:

"Friends"

We are diverse and original. We each have something to give, something to learn. Now is our time to grow, to plant roots, to build.

The faces that surround us are unique, and something can be taught by each. We must take the opportunity to understand one another, for soon the chance will be swept away by time.

These are the years that we will dream of in the days that have passed from youth, and certain individuals will step out into the spotlight of our memory. They may be only a faint glimmer, a face without a name, but they will be remembered all the same, for what they have done and what they have meant to us. We must take the time to know them now, and thank them.

This is our story, and we are . . .

“The Main Characters” . . .

Unique and expressive, every face can tell many stories. Here, the characters of "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat" tell theirs. (Photo by Tim Whittaker)

Some TNC students know how to make light of the "Lake McClurkan" situation. Is that Doris Day or Tricia Leamer?

1994 Darda Dedication

The 1994 Darda is dedicated to Craig and Elesha Keen for their years of love and commitment to the students of Trevecca Nazarene College. In the fall of 1994, Craig and Elesha journey northward to Olivet Nazarene University. Although we are sorry to see them go, we wish them well in their new life ahead. Craig and Elesha — the brilliant examples of your lives inside and outside the classroom have touched many, and will not soon be forgotten. For all that you have taught us about Love and the search for Truth, we thank you.

“... Thinking holds to the coming of what has been, and is remembrance.”

A Moment Of Insight

"Life is a series of relationships, the most important being your relationship with God. "Love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your strength." Deuteronomy 6:5 Keep this as your priority and don't let anyone or anything distract you or break your focus. In any relationship there are responsibilities — limits to create safety — I believe this very much holds true in our relationship with God. He always knows what's best for us.

In addition to working on your relationship with God the most important and valuable thing you can develop is your character and your integrity. What you do when no one else ever knows. Take time to evaluate your choices and consider the consequences of those choices now and in the years to come.

"Not by might nor by power, but by my Spirit, says the Lord Almighty." Zechariah 4:6b" — Delores Carpenter

"A. Education is the shoe polish of life. It makes us shine. B. Be a proper gentleman or lady, and always give your best at what you do." — Richard Moore

"I want students to know that they have been challenged to think and to come to realize that it is okay to question, to ponder, and to criticize. They need to know that the development of a healthy scepticism is important as long as they have also acquired the skills and abilities to find the answers and reach value-based conclusions." — Stephen M. Pusey

"The location of the telephone switchboard allows me the opportunity to personally smile and greet many wonderful people throughout each day. Quite often I am the first person with whom a visitor speaks to upon arriving at the campus. I try to offer a cheerful welcome and responsive guidance to their questions. But my real joy is talking with various students who frequently stop by to just say hello. God continues to richly bless my life with an opportunity to serve his family while at work for TNC." — Lela Tarter

WHO'S WHO

Because God can see what we cannot see, and knows dimensions we can never understand, He work out our answers according to a higher plan than we can conceive. We are to tell Him our needs and then leave them with Him. It's only in retrospect that we can see that His answer was far better than we could even have anticipated.

— H. Norman Wright

And we know that in all things God works for the good of those who love Him, who have been called according to His purpose.

Who's Who

Teacher's Prayer

I want to teach my student how to live this life on earth
To face its struggles and its strife and improve their worth
Not just the lesson in a book or how the rivers flow
But how to choose the proper path wherever they may go
To understand eternal truth and know the right from wrong
And gather all the beauty of a flower and a song
For if I help the world to grow in wisdom and in grace
Then I shall feel that I have won and I have filled my place
And so I ask your guidance, God that I may do my part
For character and confidence and happiness of heart. — James J. Melcalf

"Our Lord never enforces obedience; He does not take means to make me do what He wants. At certain times I wish God would master me and make me do the thing, but He will not; in other moods I wish He would leave me alone, but He does not." — Oswald Chambers

Waiting

I asked for health, that I might do great things; I was given infirmity, that I might do better things . . .

I asked for riches, that I might be happy; I was given poverty, that I might be wise . . .

I asked for power that I might have the praise of men; I was given weakness, that I might feel the need of God.

I asked for all things that I might enjoy life I was given life that I might enjoy all things . . .

I got nothing that I asked for — but I got everything I hoped for.

Almost despite myself, my prayers were answered. I am among all men most richly blessed. — Unknown

Who's Who

Lord, make me an instrument of your peace.
Where there is hatred . . . let me sow love.
Where there is injury . . . pardon.
Where there is doubt . . . faith.
Where there is despair . . . hope.
Where there is darkness . . . light.
Where there is sadness . . . joy.

O Divine Master, grant that I may not so much seek
To be consoled . . . as to console,
To be understood . . . as to understand;
To be loved . . . as to love,
For,
It is in giving . . . that we receive,
It is in pardoning . . . that we are pardoned,
It is in dying . . . that we are born to eternal life. — St.

Your Opinion, Please . . .

Do you ever feel like you have spectacular ideas that everyone would love if they just took a minute to hear you? But too often your complaint is that nobody ever does hear you, right? Well, hear is your own personal space to say what you feel. This year, each class has been asked a few questions pertaining to their point in their college career, as well as some general questions asked to all of the classes. Here is what the seniors have to say:

Q: What concerns you most about life after graduation?

A's: Finding a job/starting a career — 26
Paying off bills and loans — 5
Graduate school/continuing education — 8
Finding a place to live — 4
Settling down — 3
What course my life will take — 2
"Applying what I've learned"
"Supporting myself"
"I will now be held accountable for all I do"
"Everyone will leave and go their own way"

Q: What will you remember about your years at Trevecca?

A's: Friendships/relationships — 32
Impact of faculty, education, and peers — 7
Dorm life — 5
Spiritual impact — 5
Apple Dining Room fun — 2
"Being introduced to ideas and people who challenge my myopic views"
"Rules"
"Involvement in Sigma Society"
"The gift of learning to think"

Q: What is one word that best describes your experiences at Trevecca?

A's: Enlightening Enriching Fulfilling Life-changing Rewarding Essential Illuminating Turbulent Diverse Growth Expensive
Openmindedness Fascism Educational Insightful Memorable

Q: What issues do you think cause the most important concerns and needs at Trevecca? What are some possible solutions?

A's:	Issues	Solutions
	Finances	Offer more scholarships/Put a cap on tuition
	Lack of academia	Offer more academic scholarships
	Hypocrisy	Authenticity
	Lack of unity and involvement	Open communication and trust

Q: Do you feel any pressure to have a boyfriend/girlfriend, get engaged, or married while at Trevecca?

A's: Yes — 10 No — 24 Sometimes — 3

Graduation

"MAY THE FORCE BE WITH YOU" Graduation 1994 by Tanya Carey

Fellow Graduates: We have come to a time that calls us to say goodbye. A time that calls us to pack up our dreams and venture into a new world. And a time that requires us to call upon everything we have learned, so that we may better ourselves, and perhaps, even better the world. As we make paths into this world, I would like to remind you of a phrase we have heard many times: "May the Force Be with You".

Now this phrase automatically brings up images of Star Wars and Jedis. But you see, like the Jedi, we have been empowered with our own special force. We have been trained in the force of Christ, Christian higher education, and service. Trevecca has shown us how to grow in Christian leadership, and has instilled it's mission within us. And that mission is the force that nourishes our growth in all we do.

The mission Trevecca has given us is to serve. The mission is to take everything we have been trained to do and to serve our community. But Trevecca has given us a force to strengthen us along the way, the force of Christian leadership.

The force is all around us today as we sit with those who have been our mentors. Trevecca has been a mentor that not only educates, but cares, and wants to fulfill a greater mission than giving out diplomas.

So, as we leave this beloved institution may we never forget our rich heritage. May we never forget our mission. And may we never leave behind the force that gives us strength. Therefore, one last time I would like to tell you "May the Force be With You".

All the seniors appear to be more than ecstatic walking the line on graduation day. (Photos by Ann-Michele Corbi)

Your Opinion, Please . . .

It's your Junior year. For most of you, that means you are almost through. Can you believe it? How does that make you feel? Are you ready for your college career to be over? Some of you probably could not get out of here fast enough. Others may want to hang around for awhile. You can handle the Apple Dining Room until you come up with a better plan, right? Whether you're racing toward that diploma or just taking it easy, you have definitely got an opinion about things, especially on this campus. So this is your own space for sharing those opinions with the rest of TNC. Fire away.

Your Opinion, Please . . .

Okay guys, here it is, the midway-marker of your college education (at least traditionally). What does that mean to you? What does it make you think about, worry about? Has college been everything you thought it would be? What would you change if you could? Here is your opportunity to share your thoughts. Go right ahead . . .

Q: Has This year gone by faster than last year?

A's: Yes — 11

No — 4

Q: Do you feel you've hit the "Sophomore Slump"? If so, what (if anything) have you tried to do about it?

A's: Yes — 10

No — 5

Q: Do you go home as often as you did last year?

A's: Yes — 6

No — 9

Q: What are the issues that you feel cause the most need for concern on Trevecca's campus? What are some possible solutions to problems you see?

A's: Issues

Solutions

Lack of concern for academics

An ACTIVE academic council with student representation

Lack of Christ-like attitude

More stress on living for Christ in everything

Getting people involved in activities

Cracking down on offenders of school policy

Better management of records (dorms) and security

Stopping the Honors Program

DON'T

Too much focus on love/relationships

Focus more on education

Legalism and rules

People constantly debate these issues. There will probably never be a final solution.

Q: What do you think is the most significant thing that happened on Trevecca's campus this year?

A's: The P.T. Lawsuit

Losing too many good professors

Loss of Julie Runyan and the impact her life made

Spring and Fall revivals

Chapel renovation

Trimming of trees

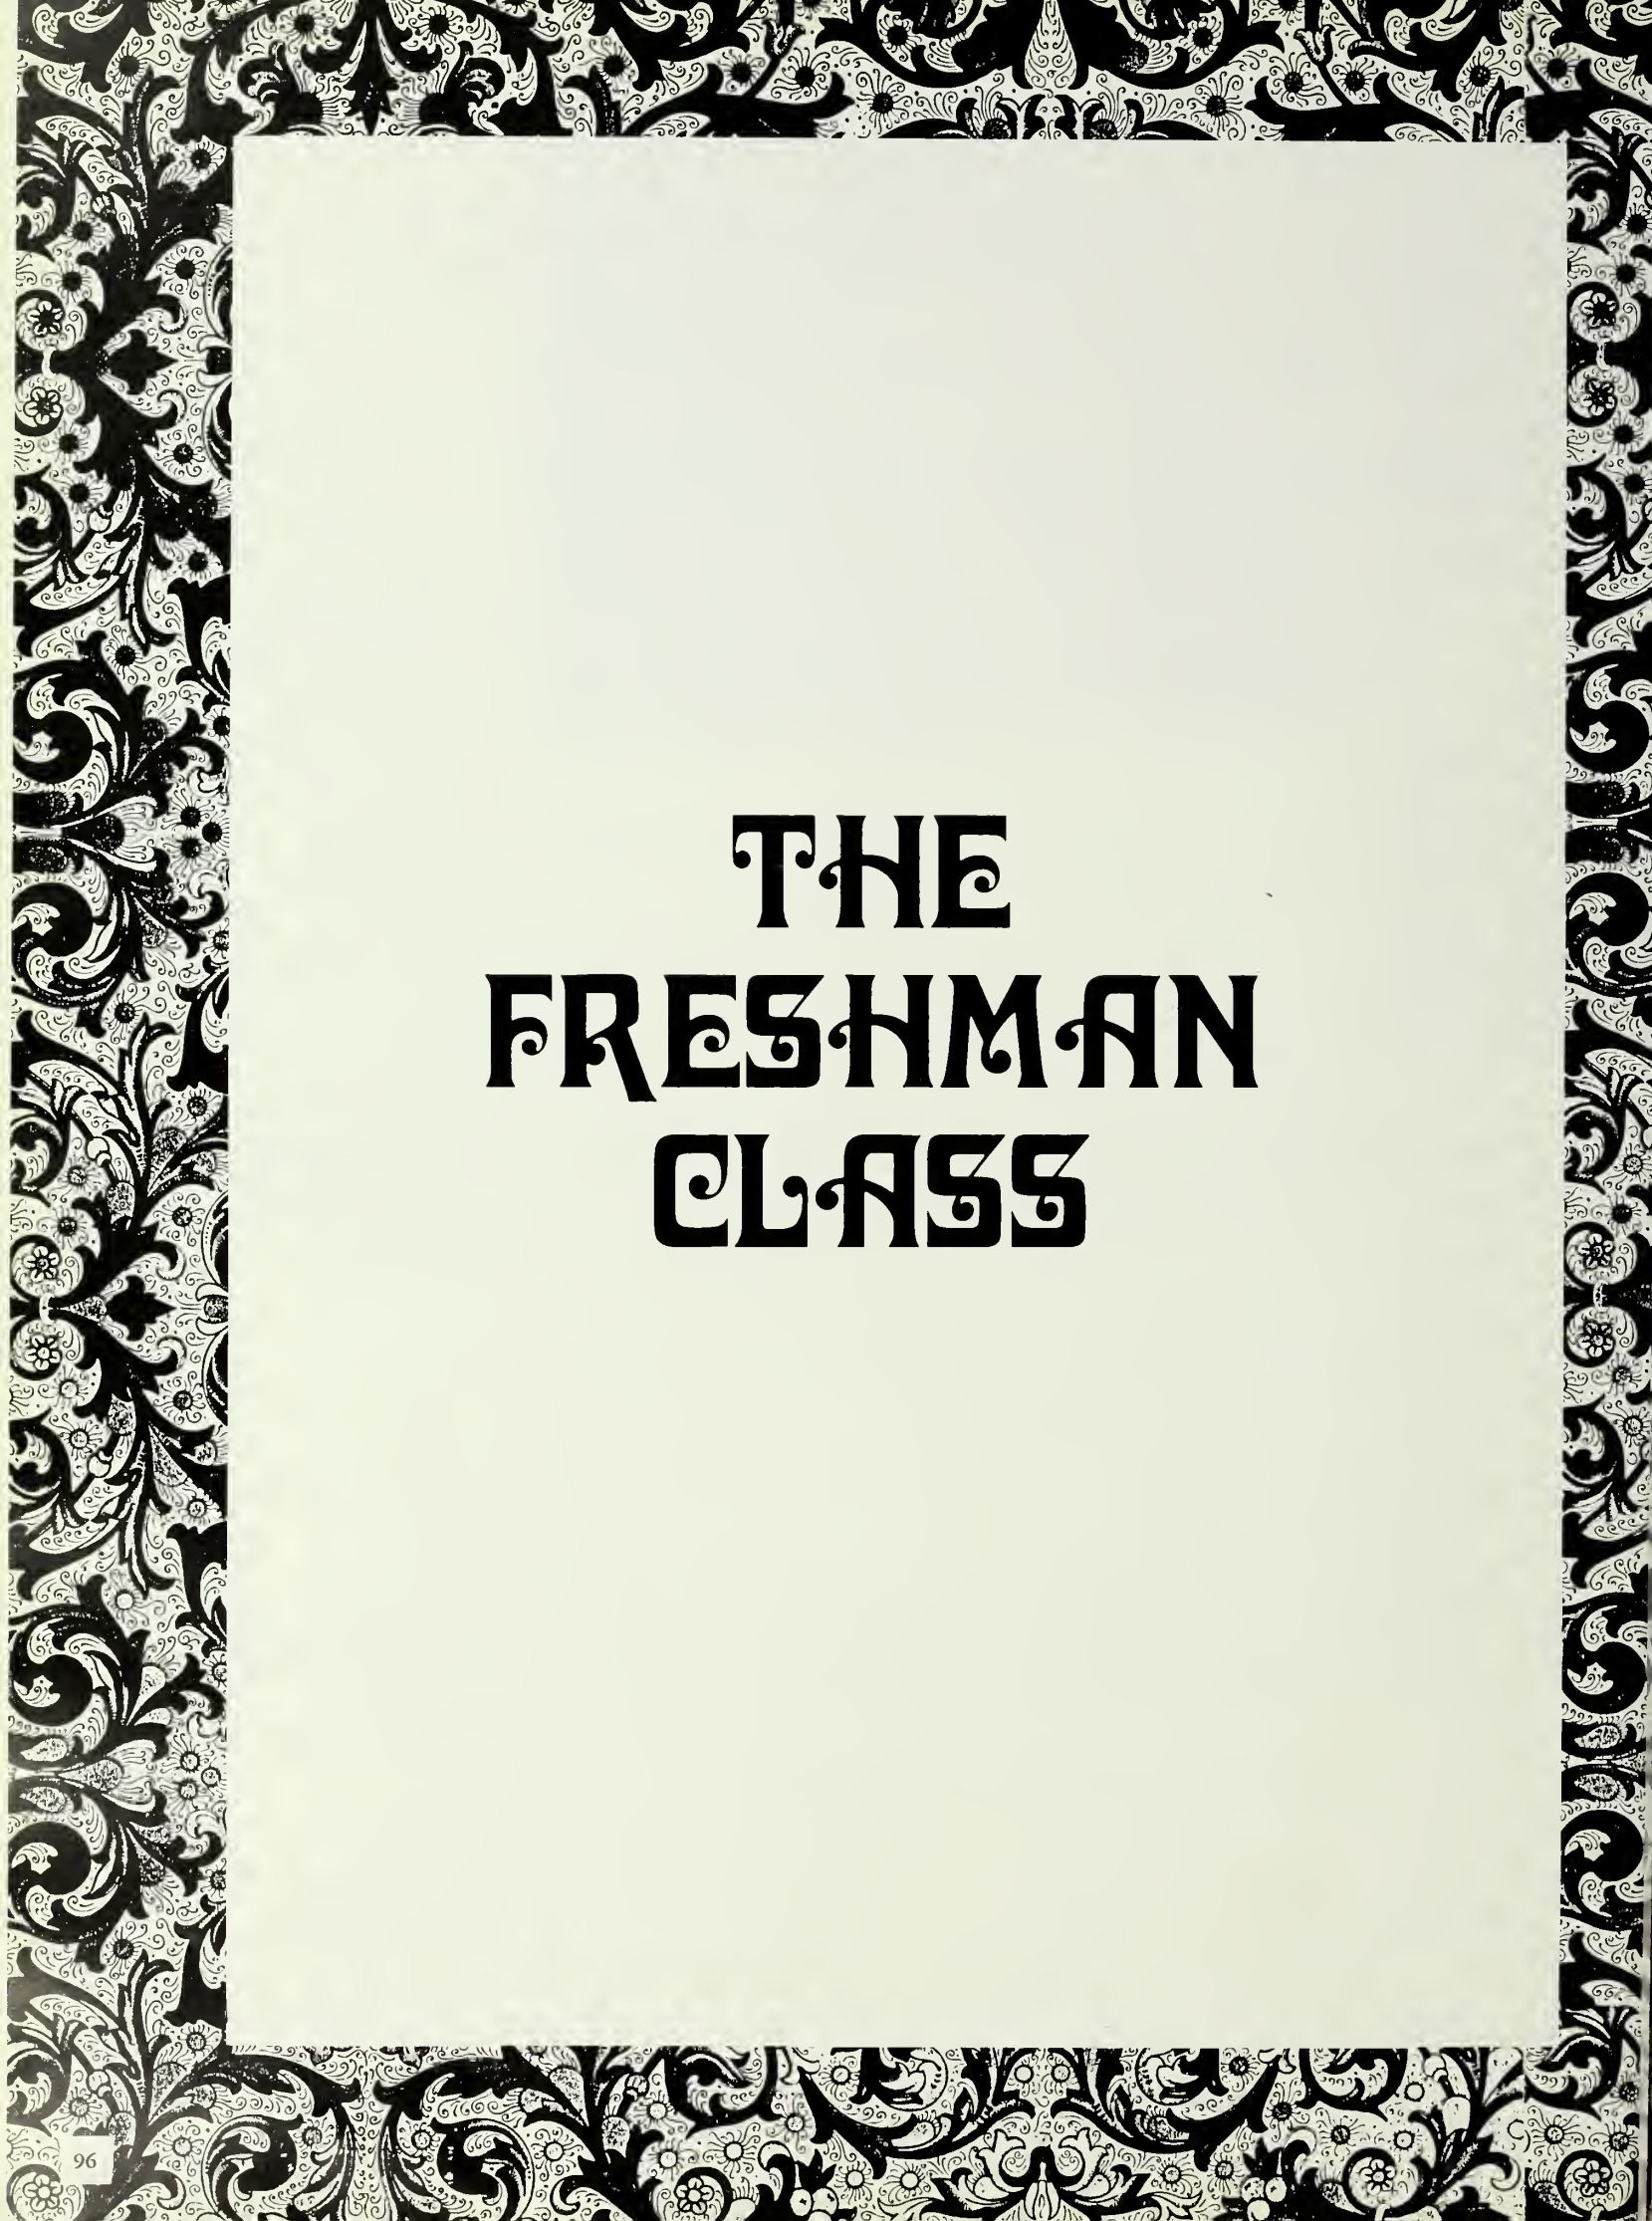

Q: Do you feel any pressure to get involved with someone, get engaged, get married . . . ?

"The sun never sets on Trevecca students" is more than just a catchy slogan. From its beginnings, Trevecca College students have sought to minister to their community and their world as graduates have gone to far-flung shores to meet physical, social, educational, and spiritual needs. Mission Ministries bands interested students each year to continue the compassionate focus as young people give themselves in service to the homeless, the poor, disadvantaged children, and those in the inner city and on foreign fields through mission trips and Work and Witness projects. Mission Ministry seeks to motivate the Trevecca College Community to "selfless service".

Mission Ministries

The Towers Ministry Team holds services at the Towers I Retirement Home each Sunday afternoon at 4 p.m. These services last approximately 45 minutes and consist of prayer, hymn and chorus singing, special music, and a short devotional. To offer variety in the services, there are also occasional singspirations as well as puppet shows.

Coordinated by Cherilyn Jones and Sonda Leonard, the Towers services offer other Trevecca students and an occasional faculty member the opportunity to give their time and talents to a very special group of people. The participants in these services are those who are not only able to deliver a simple devotional, provide special music with an instrument or vocal piece, or offer a short prayer, but also those who will simply attend the services and support the 'Towers Team as well as offering a smile and handshake to the residents who attend. The Towers ministry offers a unique opportunity to the members of the Trevecca community — the chance to reach beyond the narrow boundaries of our campus to minister to others in a brief, weekly service where the return is much greater than the investment.

"Time is the thing the people at Towers have in abundance and the thing they can give freely. I spend 45 minutes a week in a service with people who are there completely by choice and who always walk out the door smiling and expressing complete appreciation for my efforts." — Cherilyn Jones

"Towers has become much more than a way of serving others for me — it has become a chance to be with people who have experienced a tremendous amount of life and still have the desire to live on and to love. I know that at least once a week I will be in the presence of people who won't think bad things about me or insult me. That is pure love — that is ministry." — Sonda Leonard

Sigma

Sigma Society of Trevecca Nazarene College is an organization committed to service towards the campus and the community. Sigma is presently and has been sponsored by Soroptomist International since 1980.

The members of Sigma are dedicated to serving the students as well as many others in the outside community. The Dating Game, the Blast from the Past, and the All-School Christmas Party are just a few of the activities Sigma plans for students. Sigma is active in the community helping with organizations such as Outlook Nashville and the Crisis Pregnancy Center, and also organizing an all-school event to feed the homeless of Nashville.

The experience to serve others is not taken lightly by the members of Sigma, and each opportunity to serve is looked upon as a learning experience. Although the primary purpose of Sigma is to serve, the friendships and memories cannot be overlooked. Through the service and the friendships, Sigma Society cannot help but make a difference on the campus of Trevecca.

HAVE I DONE MY BEST?

When I come to the end of the way,
 At the close of a long weary day,
 If there's nothing more that I can say —

Have I done my best?

When I have done whatever I can
 To love and serve my fellow man,
 And stopped to lend a helping hand,

Have I done my best?

Have I helped someone to share
 The cross he has had to bear,
 And measured all my duties there —

Have I done my best?

Lord, have I done something for thee?

Am I the man I ought to be?

Open my eyes that I may see

To do my best.

— T.W. Mayhew

For the past twenty-five years, Trevecca has seen many Civinettes come and go, but our motto “Service Through Christ” has always remained the same.

We have strived to do our best to follow the example Christ has left for us. By lending a helping hand to someone in need, completing a service project, or just spending time together our dedication and commitment to this organization has formed a bond between its members, both past and present.

We were blessed to have Christ use us as His tools and to share His spirit both on our campus and in our community.

Although this chapter of our lives may be coming to an end, the friendships and memories that we've shared will be in our hearts and minds forever! (Copy by Stacia Hudspith, Kelly Pfaff, and Jill Bogatay)

Theta Chi

"Do these girls really have muscles?" was the question asked at the 1994 Theta Chi Beach Bash.

From Theta Chi's beginning in 1987 until the present, this service club has operated with one goal in mind, service to others. The theme, "Find Us Faithful" has been the anthem that unified the club as one. Through various avenues, this group has extended their love for Christ to others. Sunday afternoons have been spent ministering to the elderly at the Towers. Theta Chi members have helped those who are less fortunate by participating in the annual Walk For The Homeless. Feeding the Homeless, singing in the chapel services at the Downtown Mission For Men, sponsoring Campus Feud to feed a needy family at Thanksgiving, a car wash for those in need, a fall festival for children, and the annual Beach Bash to benefit abused children at the Oasis Center. They have also dedicated their time to babysit children of parents who want to enjoy Homecoming with long-time college friends and those who want to have a special night out on Valentine's Day.

Theta Chi members do not do these things in order to boast, instead we want to portray to others that each of us who has found Christ's love and redeeming grace has something to offer others. We encourage each of you: "Get involved in giving yourself away."

Rotoract officers hang out on the steps before their Wednesday night meetings.

The members of Rotoract.

Close bonds of friendship form between the members of Rotoract.

This year Rotoract has participated in many things. Some of these include the Air Show in coordination with our sponsor club — Donelson. The Price is Right in coordination with Civitans, the Variety Show, and the Diabetes Foundation's Trick or Treat at Opryland. We feel our motto is "Rotoract is dedicated to: Education, Truth, Service, and Fellowship." It is our desire to be more Christ-like in all areas of our lives.

Treble Tones is an all female choir with a lasting reputation for great music, and a lot of fun; under the direction of Joanne Taylor, fondly called "Mom." Seeds were planted this year in the Carolina's, Washington D.C., and Virginia; not only in the churches, but in their own lives. Big plans lie ahead for the 1994-95 year, for the Treble-Tones will head to the Bahamas.

Phi Beta Lambda is an exciting national business club that prepares you for a successful future. Phi Beta Lambda is open to all majors; it is available for anyone wishing to obtain that extra edge when beginning their career.

Phi Beta Lambda meets once a month, often having guest speakers who discuss their various career fields and give the students advice in an effort to prepare them for their entrance into the working world. To assist in this preparation, Phi Beta Lambda both attended a State workshop and hosted a resume writing workshop in the fall of this school year.

A business club must also involve social activities. Phi Beta Lambda began the school year with an ice cream social to make the students more aware of the club. Throughout the year they hosted various movie nights and everyone participated in a very successful car wash to raise money for the Runyan family.

The highlight of the year is the State Competition in the spring which was held in Gatlinburg. Trevecca did very well taking 5 first places, 3 second places and 1 third place. The winners will travel on to Anaheim, California for National Competition. Last year Phi Beta Lambda sent four of Trevecca's students to Nationals which were held in Washington D.C. Michelle Foster, Dan Onstead and Marquette Scott went and competed in the Business Decision Making Team category and Holly Miller placed third in the nation in the category of Business Law.

Our officers for this year have been Kellie Hamilton, President; Dan Onstead, Vice President; Kim Trivette, Secretary; Michelle Foster, Treasurer and Marquette Scott, Historian.

The electronic media are prevalent shapers of our society's moral attitudes and actions. My vision is to have the leaders and decision makers along with the creative writers and producers to be Christians. The best way to change the media is from within. I pray that all my students will become strong Christians who work hard and make a difference in radio stations, TV stations, networks and program production facilities. — David Deese

Professionally, we should develop and pursue a passion for our craft. Empower others, explore yourself. In our attempts to articulate our faith in Christ, we are hardly exempt from excellence. Spiritually, we are called upon to develop and to pursue a compassion for those with whom we come into contact daily. Often we allow the task that God has placed before us to crowd out those to whom we are meant to minister. Let us excel with distinction and passion in our respective fields, yes; but let us not forget to exercise a compassion for the lives around us that are ultimately at stake. Through such a balance, we may continue to glorify God wherever He has planted us. — Jeff Frame

"I want my students to remember that God has created all of us and that He has created us all differently. Given this, each of us needs to think for himself or herself, value — even celebrate — our diversity, appreciate beauty in all of its variety, do the best we can with what we're given, and, most of all, care for one another." — Rob Blann

"Christ was and is the greatest teacher of all and my daily prayer as I approach each class is that my students will remember Him modeled in me. I also urge them to think for themselves, not to be afraid to challenge ideas and to be truth-seekers. I want them to be effective communicators using the power of the written word to make a difference in people's lives." — Carol Anne Eby

Shakespeare wrote, "There is a divinity that shapes our ends, rough-hew them how we will." To me, that means we are freed and empowered to grow, to create, to imagine, and to change. # Philosophy

What do you want your students to remember most about your lectures and teaching? What do you wish to impress upon them as they prepare for the world outside of college?

"Students forget the detailed content of a course rather quickly in most cases. If I can create a thirst for knowledge, a commitment to truth and a love of learning, these will have long range consequences. In my experience, the personal integrity and Christian attitude of the professor makes a more powerful impact upon the student than anything else. I cover this for myself as a teacher." — H. Ray Dunning

"Life is a journey . . . it is not simply 'arriving' at a destination! As a part of living, learning is also a journey; it is the life-long adventure of encountering worlds that I never dreamed could exist and experiencing life as I never imagined it could be experienced. My goal as a teacher is simple to provide this invitation to my students: 'Embrace the adventure of life-long learning!' " — Tim Green

"That education can be — and from the time to time is — a moment of worship in which the silence of reflection is filled with the passion of Christ." That life can be — and from time to time is — a moment of worship in which the silence of labor is filled with the passion of Christ."
— Craig Keen

And Religion

Curtis Lewis

"I hope they discover that learning is a life-long adventure. I trust I have modeled teaching well enough to inspire them to teach and living well enough for them to want to do so. Regardless of vocation, I pray for students they will see that work is a setting in which to make a contribution to others their church, and society. May they be servants of Christ and minister to others." — David Slamp

"A caring professor who believes in combining the best of academic thought with practical application in real life. The need to become and remain life-long learners who will never be satisfied with mediocrity or pat answers to complex questions." — Dan Spross

Remember to always treat people, not diseases, signs, symptoms or syndromes. Medicine is both a science and an art; and it is never fully learned! — Debbie Dover

I want students to remember that I was enthusiastic about the subject matter, that being with them in the classroom was challenging and stimulating to me, and that they were encouraged to do their best. "Obviously, I want my students to take away a feeling of appreciation for the contribution made to our lives and our world by individuals in the past, and to gain a grasp of the great sweep of events. But I also hope to encourage faith in the God of history, who oversees the events of our days, and to promote the striving toward excellence and responsibility in our own lives." — John Chilton

Sciences

"I hope my students will remember that I cared enough to take time to listen to them and their concerns, hurts, and struggles, as well as to rejoice with them in their successes. I hope they learn from their years here at TNC what it means to live out their Christian faith in the daily context of their lives, that true success in any sphere of living means giving oneself away in service to others and to God's Kingdom. I pray I have modeled this type of lifestyle effectively in their midst." — Don Kintner

Lidell Madden

I want my students to believe and know that God created this universe, including men and women; that He is still in control; that He gives purpose to life and history; and someday Christ will return to this earth to present each of us to God the Father so that we may give an account as to how we lived out His plan for our lives. — A.W. It has been said that "culture and what it produces is made possible and is reflective of the knowledge that underlies it." Students who have completed the two-year Honors Program have no doubt that these words are true. Through four semesters of integrative learning, they have discovered just how intricate the web of historical culture is, and how the thread of that web was first spun and continues to be woven through the unfathomable foundation of knowledge.

Everyone involved in the Honors Program has grown together and affected one another with wisdom from their own cultural experience, as well as studied the wisdom of every aspect of existence of various culture's from creation to the present. The Honors Program and its founders have even provided the opportunity for students to visit and experience several cultures in Europe. This was made possible twice; once in the spring of 1992 with the "Magical Mystery Tour I" and in the spring of 1994 with the "Magical Mystery Tour II."

The world is wide, and the river of knowledge and insight runs deep. Honors Program graduates are unanimously sorrowful that future Treveccans will not be able to plunge into those waters in such a meaningful, beautiful, and life-defining way. However, they find contentment in the realization that they will continue to build upon the interwoven basis of knowledge revealed to them by the Honors Program throughout the rest of their lives.

Environment (en vi' ren ment)- the aggregate of surrounding things, conditions, or influences. This is the way Random House Dictionary defines it. We know it better as HOME.

A home we all share and one that we have taken advantage of for too long. The statistics are quite alarming. * *Did you know that 1.36 billion pounds of aluminum cans were produced last year?

* *Did you know that the energy saved from recycling aluminum cans is enough to power the state of Kansas for one year? * *Did you know that four million recycled cans is enough material to build a Boeing 747?

* *Did you know that we throw away enough aluminum to rebuild the U. S.

Commercial air fleet every three months? An aluminum can, left in the landfill will take 200 to 500 years to decay. We are also wasting our natural resources.

* *Did you know that one three-foot stack of newspapers (about 2 weeks worth) equals one 32 foot tree? * *Did you know that recycling one ton of newspaper saves 1 1/2 cubic yards of landfill space--and enough energy to power the average home for six months? We can no longer afford to ignore these frightening statistics.

The TNC Environmental Awareness group grew out of the need for a recycling program on campus. The group started a recycling program this year--one that would incorporate the student body as participants in change. They focused on paper and aluminum cans primarily. Each week one of the classes would be responsible for pick-up and disposal of the recycleable goods. TNC's maintenance department helped a great deal by providing a means for transportation to and from the collection sites

and several bins

to collect paper

in. We hope this program will be carried on by those students who come after us. This earth belongs to all of us. The responsibility is all of ours. Do your

Class Notes

Here's a quick quiz that might be of more interest to you than the life process of a Venus fly-trap. You probably won't find these questions on that pop quiz in microbiology.

Q: What was your "cheesiest-ever" excuse for missing class?

A's: "No clean clothes" — Marla Thompson

"Bad hair day" — Melissa Poloskey

"I forgot the time changed" — Marcie Baird

"I got stuck in a stall in the bathroom" — Monica Rogers

"I thought I had a cold, so I thought I had to sleep it off" — Chad Schnarr

Q: Have you ever fallen asleep in class?

A's: Yes — 38

No — 12

"Yes, Stacey did. She fell out of her desk this morning." — Chad Schnarr

"In high school, I fell asleep in geometry. I was fading into a deep sleep and dreamt that a basketball was being passed at me. I tried to catch it and knocked all the books off of my desk. Everybody laughed."

— Brent McMillian

Trojan fans show their support as TNC athletes work together as a team. (Photos by Preston Ramsey)

Trevecca athletes spend hours of dedicated practice and conditioning for their sport. Those of us that take part in the sports-world understand the importance of being well-trained and skilled. The challenge, the competition (self-competition foremost), the exhilaration of striving for the best; are all part of the sportsperson's life.

Those of us that stay on the sidelines support the athletes in their games, tournaments, and matches. We support them not only for their own victory, but also because we realize that their struggle to compete to their best represents a struggle for self-improvement in each of us. For their triumph and as a reminder of a need to define our own, we support each athlete in their . . .

Ron Adams: Trevecca's very exceptional very dedicated runner.

We've all seen him running at least once or twice. It may have been on the way to Kroger or to the Cooker. It may have been raining. Regardless, we've looked out the car window and said, "Hey, that's Ron Adams. What's he doing running down Murfreesboro Road? How far is he going to run?"

Well, it turns out that Ron's really running far . . . in 1996, he'll be running to the Olympics.

DARDA: When did you start running?

RON: My father got me interested in running and I've been jogging for a good ten years. I had trained for six years before I actually ended up doing that marathon.

The marathon Ron is referring to is the Andrew Jackson Marathon held on November 6, 1993, in Jackson, Tennessee. Ron came in first place for his age group.

DARDA: How did you feel when you hit the finish line of the Andrew Jackson?

RON: Let me just say this, I had done a lot of reading on marathons and gotten advice and opinions from other marathon runners. When I was actually jogging, the pain kept getting worse and worse. For the last six miles I couldn't feel my legs. It was a 26.2 mile loop.

As soon as I realized I had made it back the main road, I wanted to crawl! . . . When I felt the medallion being placed over my head it reminded me of the Olympics — that's what I had on my mind. It gave me a great sense of accomplishment.

And Going

Running

DARDA: How did you feel when you walked into the cafeteria after you got back that weekend?

RON: I was on Cloud 19. Most of the people here on campus know me as a jogger and by the time the marathon came around, there were many people who knew I was going to do it. It was neat to see the reaction of others, too.

DARDA: You mentioned how the marathon made you think of the Olympics, but there is another reason the Olympics should be on your mind lately. Didn't you just receive news about carrying the torch?

RON: I just received a letter from the 1996 Olympics committee saying that my name and address has been added to the database. In mid-1995 I will receive notification as to where, when, and how far I will be running. Right now they are in the planning stages of the route the runners will take.

DARDA: Carrying the torch for the Olympics, Ron, that's pretty big stuff.

RON: The Olympics for me is like a dream. It's out there somewhere (He indicates away from himself with a quick motion of his hands.) I used to think it was something I could never accomplish myself. You've got to be able to run a five minute mile and I've only done that once in my life.

DARDA: What does this honor mean to you personally?

RON: They take volunteers to carry the torch to the next destination. The significance behind that is that they've used this torch for many Olympic games — it's been to L.A.; Seoul, Korea; Athens, Greece; it's been in thousands of hands since 1896. And the torchbearers . . . I guess the carrying of the torch, the helping, it's a special honor because the torch itself is more than a flame and a fire. It's significant in that it's drawing all of our countries across the world together in more than just sports — in peace, in competition . . .

DARDA: So many people work all their life towards a goal. How does it feel to be successful at a young age? (Ron will be 24 when he carries the torch.)

RON: Well, I guess success isn't always winning. If we have goals set in mind and we work to accomplish those goals, we're all winners . . . I wasn't sure what would come of volunteering to carry the torch, but I sought out and tried, and it will happen now.

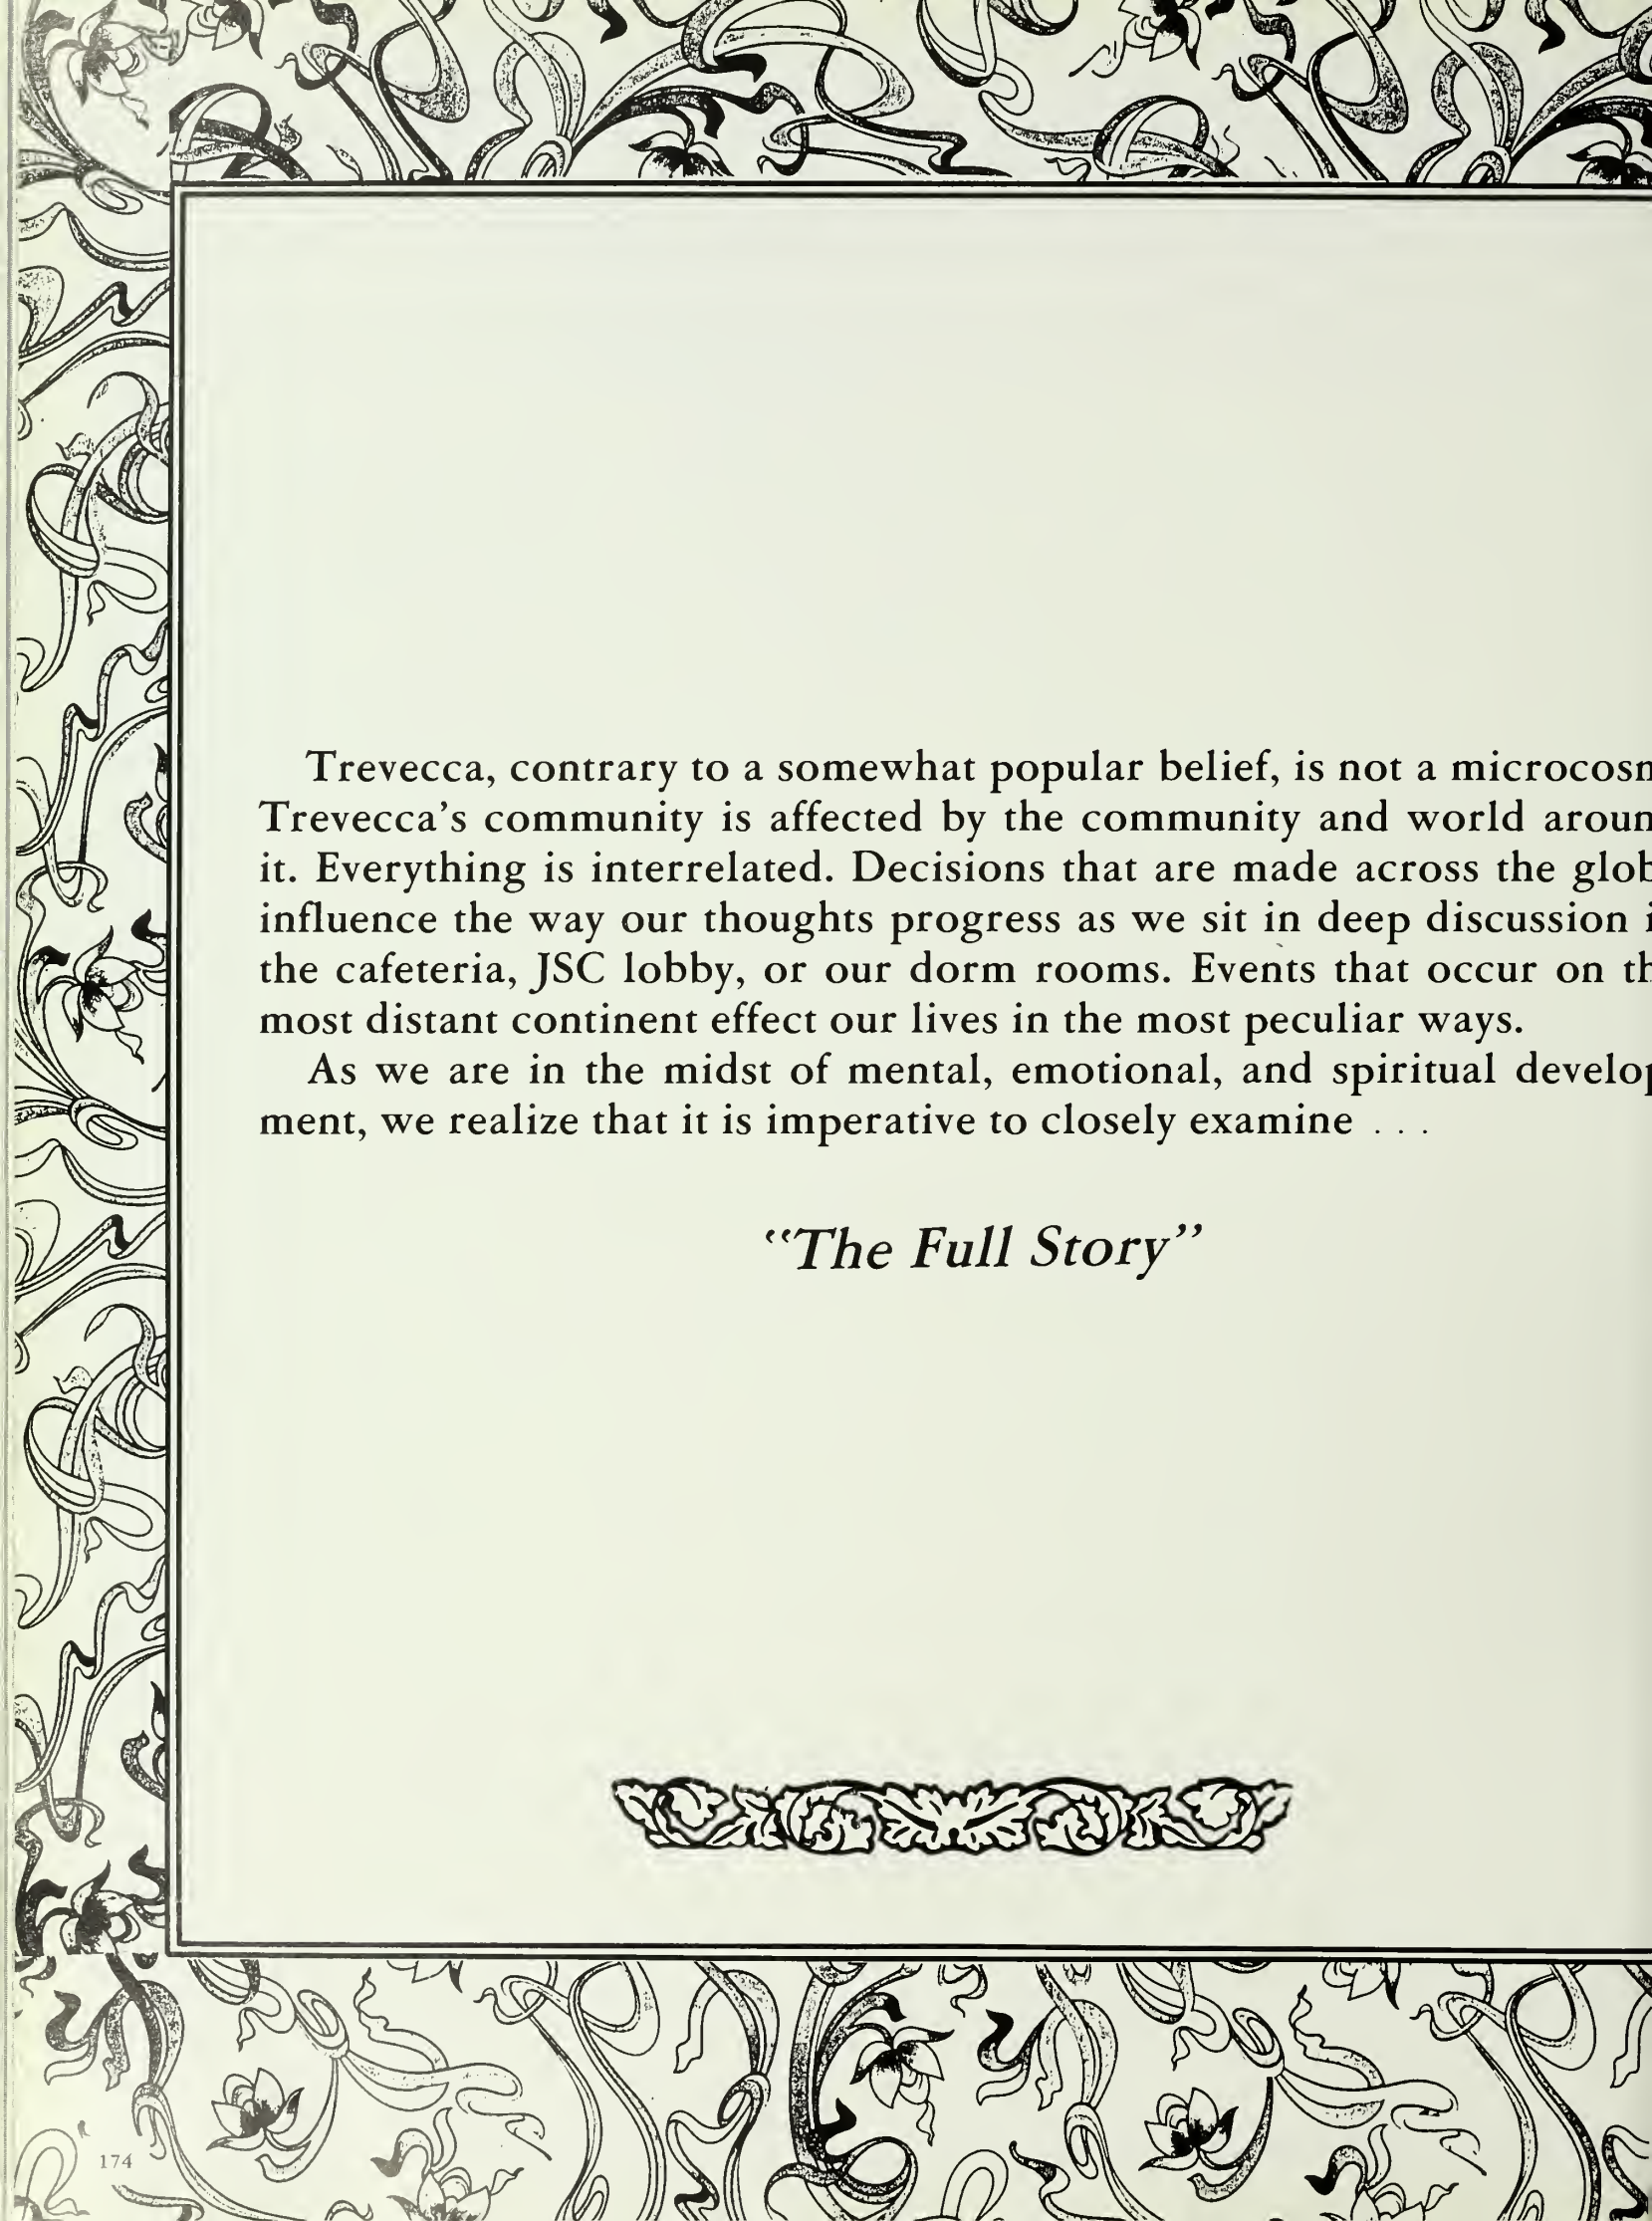

DARDA: You're probably so excited, you won't be able to wait until 1996.

RON: One of the things that sends chills up and down my back is that this isn't a national event, it's an international event, there will be international cameras on me as I run.

Congratulations, Ron. Your friends at Trevecca are proud of your achievement. We'll be watching in 1996!

Trevecca, contrary to a somewhat popular belief, is not a microcosm. Trevecca's community is affected by the community and world around it. Everything is interrelated. Decisions that are made across the globe influence the way our thoughts progress as we sit in deep discussion in the cafeteria, JSC lobby, or our dorm rooms. Events that occur on the most distant continent effect our lives in the most peculiar ways.

As we are in the midst of mental, emotional, and spiritual development, we realize that it is imperative to closely examine . . .

It has been a face-paced, hectic, lesson-learning unforgettable year! I cannot believe it is over. I have appreciated the opportunity to produce this yearbook for you, my classmates, professors, and friends.

It was my goal to give you an annual full of variety, information, and inspiration. In some ways I've fallen short of that goal, but in others I succeeded further than I expected. Regardless, I hope this book teaches you about life — your life and that of those around you, and life in general. Life is a story, ever complex and changing, and in this book we have been able to write down a tiny little part of our story — to remember and learn from, always.

Thank you to Tim Whittaker, Preston Ramsey, and Lanagayle Taylor for your incredible photography skills and generosity. Thanks to Tammy Jo Stewart, Dawn Hedley, Rusty Smith, Teri Wiesman, Sean Poloskey, and Melissa Poloskey for all of your hard work. Tami, Luann, Kris, Sean, and Missy — thanks for keeping me sane. Last but not least, thank you to all of the Honors Program professors, who taught me to seek aletheia — beautiful unconcealedness — in everything.

We walk the narrow path
beneath the smoke and the skies sometimes we can barely tell the difference between the darkness and the light.
Do we have faith, in what we believe?
The truest test is when we cannot . . .
When we cannot see . . .

SOMALIA

The world was drawn to Somalia in 1992 by photographs of starving children. It was almost driven away the following year by photographs of fighting adults.

The capital, Mogadishu, was a city divided, with a northern sector held by warlord Ali Mahdi Mohamed, and the south by a rival Mohamed Farah Aidid. Aidid and Ali Mahdi had united to overthrow dictator Mohamed Siad Barre, whom they had forced into exile in 1991. But their ensuing contest for power led to a full-scale war over Mogadishu that killed 350,000 people in fighting and exacerbated a famine.

Aidid became the United Nations' bete noir after he was suspected of ordering an attack on a group of Pakistani peacekeepers.

U.N. forces launched a manhunt for Aidid, but its forces halted ground patrols and all but essential military convoys in Mogadishu after an October 3rd battle that left 18 Americans, one Malaysian, and more than 300 Somalis dead.

BOSNIA

The civil war in what was once Yugoslavia moved through its second year at terrible human cost: as many as 200,000 people were dead or missing, including ten United Nations relief workers who had died by October.

The eighteen-month-old civil war began in 1992 when Serbs rebelled over a vote by the republic's Muslims and Croats to secede from Serb-dominated Yugoslavia and form two separate governments.

Croatia and Muslim-dominated Bosnia-Herzegovina initially allied against the more powerful Serbs, but their alliance dissolved amidst bitter turf battles between Croats and Muslims in the second half of 1993.

Much of the attention of the barbaric war centered on Sarajevo, the long-suffering Bosnian capital under siege by the Serbs. But life in other communities was even harder.

A U.N. observer described Maglaj, a north Bosnian town of 35,000 that was besieged in June by Croats, as "a shattered town of battered people" forced to live underground.

"People in Maglaj are subterranean people," he said. "They spend most of their time in the basements. They look dirty, tired and haggard."

ATTEMPTED COUP IN RUSSIA

Russia, one of the world's greatest powers, experienced political upheaval in 1993 more typical of a Third World nation.

When President Boris Yeltsin disbanded the legislature on September 21st, many of its hard-liners barricaded themselves inside the parliament building in Moscow, and tried to wrest power from Yeltsin in an attempted coup.

However, tanks and troops flushed out the defiant lawmakers, many of them old-line Communists opposed to Yeltsin's attempts to move the nation toward a free market economy.

After the rebellion was crushed, a commission was formed to create a new legislative framework, and elections for a parliament were scheduled.

THE HANDSHAKE OF PEACE

On Monday, September 13, 1993, three American presidents gawked in awe at a sudden turn toward peace.

The grasp by Arab Yasser Arafat of the hand of Jew Yitzhak Rabin brought a gasp, a shout, and finally applause from several thousand people on the White House lawn.

A few minutes earlier, a peace treaty had been signed in which the PLO recognized the right of Israel to live in peace, and Israel, in turn, recognized the PLO as the representative of Palestinians. (All photos and information provided by the Associated Press)

COLD WAVE

Across the Northeast, the Midwest, and large parts of the South, the extreme cold of January 1994 brought an end to the daily routine.

Arctic air with wind chills at seventy-four degrees below zero swept across the eastern United States in the wake of a blizzard caused at least ninety-two deaths and forced tens of thousands of homeless people to seek protection at shelters.

CALIFORNIA WILDFIRES

Twenty six fires that swept Southern California in the fall of 1993 left four people dead and caused at least one billion dollars in damage.

Wildfires destroyed 1,150 homes, burned across 200,000 acres and injured nearly 200 people in Southern California in a matter of weeks. Adding to the horror, authorities said that nineteen fires were set by arsonists.

CALIFORNIA EARTHQUAKE

At 4:31 a.m. on Monday, January 17, 1994, an earthquake of 6.6 magnitude (Richter scale reading) struck Southern California, claiming sixty-one lives and leaving damage that may total $30,000,000,000.

Five interstate highways, including the state's major north-south route, were closed at several points, crippling transportation. Much of the water supply to the San Fernando Valley were cut off, and over 500,000 customers were left without power in Los Angeles County.

AMTRAK CRASH

An Amtrak train hurtled off a bridge into an inky bayou in Saraland, Alabama, early on the morning of September 22, 1993, plunging its sleeping passengers into a nightmare of fire, water, and death.

The wreck, killed forty-seven people aboard the cross-country Sunset Limited. Some of the victims were trapped in a submerged passenger car, others in a burned engine.

It was the deadliest wreck in Amtrak's twenty-three year history. All three engines and four of the eight cars went off the bridge. One passenger car was submerged in water about sixteen feet deep. However, 159 people survived, and some helped other passengers who clung from wreckage in a swamp crawling with alligators and snakes.

MIDWEST FLOODS

The floods that washed across the Midwest may have been the worst in history. They captured the concern of people across the nation.

The casualties range from the thousands left homeless to investors and consumers in every corner of the United States. Some farm produce prices rose and insurers had to pay out millions in compensation.

SEINFELD

The NBC program "Seinfeld" took home three trophies from the Emmy Awards on September 29, 1993, making it one of the night's two biggest winners

"Seinfeld," which features the comic misadventures of the New York comedian and his friends, was named best comedy series. Asked about the critics' complaints that "Seinfeld" is a show about nothing, Seinfeld said, "It's a show about everything. That's the same as nothing."

MISS AMERICA

Kimberly Clarice Aiken, Miss South Carolina, became one of the youngest women to win the Miss America pageant. The eighteen-year-old Aiken is founder and president of the Homeless Education and Resource Organization in her hometown, Columbia, South Carolina, where she worked with homeless children. Aiken studied last year at the University of North Carolina and enrolled this year at the University of South Carolina.

NANCY KERRIGAN ATTACK

Nancy Kerrigan, the twenty-two-year-old U.S. figure skater was attacked by a man who hit her on the right leg with a club or metal bar.

The blow severely bruised her knee, an injury that could impede her jumping and landing ability.

Within days, an anonymous phone call to authorities pointed to Kerrigan's rival, Tonya Harding. Harding's ex-husband, Jeff Gilooly, her bodyguard, Hawn Eckardt, and two hired men were arrested.

The U.S. Figure Skating Association formed a panel to investigate the case, a first step in the process that almost led to Harding's removal from the team.

MICHAEL JORDAN

After having led the Chicago Bulls to three straight National Basketball Association Championships, Michael Jordan announced his retirement. Jordan said, "The thrill is gone, I've done it all. There's nothing left for me to do."

Jordan said his desire to retire at the age of thirty was not prompted by his father's murder during the summer, in fact, he said, father and son had already discussed it.

WORLD SERIES

It was one of the most dramatic home runs in the history of the World Series.

Joe Carter of the Toronto Blue Jays stepped to the plate in the ninth inning of the sixth game of the series, with two runners on base and the score six-five in favor of the Philadelphia Phillies.

Carter's Blue Jays led the series, three games to two. And after the swing of his bat, the game was over and the Jays had won their second straight series.

The right fielder circled the bases, arms outstretched over his head, and slapped palms with third base coach Nick Leyva as the crowd in Toronto's Sky Dome stood and roared with glee.

SUMO WRESTLING

In a year filled with horrifying news photos from battlefields around the globe, this photo of human struggle brought a smile.

It happened before a sumo tournament in San Jose, CA, on June 5, 1993. The competitors included Salevaa Atisanoe a 576-pound Hawaiian who goes by the sumo name Konishiki and is known in Japan as "Meat Bomb."

Before the matches began, about twenty boys took turns taking on Konishiki and another sumo champion on the dirt sumo ring, trying without success to push the huge men around. Usually, the boys ended up getting picked up and tossed about like dolls as the crowd roared with laughter. In the case of this young boy, Konishiki just stood and smiled.

Zuercher, Karla 62

There is a whole world
waiting.

We have shared a year together. We have learned from each other; grown together. For some of us, our years at Trevecca have come to a close, for others, our Trevecca tale is still unfolding.

Whether we continue together or apart, we do continue. Life has more to teach us, more to offer. There are many paths to take, and through faith, we each will find our own. It is not that the tale ends, but rather that . . .

“The Tale Turns”

Our story has been heard,

Our story has been read,

Our story continues to be written . . .

Goes

ON

"All I can do is to tell the story, and this must be sufficient."
And it was sufficient.

God made man because he loves stories.

— Elie Wiesel
