OLYs-ADPs Present "The Man"

On Stage - 'The Man' by Mel Dinelli

By Marlene Buess

Tonight Ron Kirkpatrick and Faye Wilson will be featured in the ADP-Oly play, "The Man" by Mel Dinelli. The lead roles for the play were double cast.

In last night's performance, Elmo Hatlestead and Barbara Sandford gave their interpretation of the roles.

Elmo has a masterful use of his eyes in interpreting the part of "the man", Howard Wilton. He reveals Howard as a man who has a hard time in life and who desires to be respected as himself.

Ron's portrayal is done mainly through motions and voice inflection. He plays up Howard's intense concern over little details. He is appreciative of kindness, but suspicious and easily hurt.

Playing opposite Ron, Faye depicts Mrs. Gillis as an emotional woman who is losing control of herself, yet struggling to hang on to her sense of balance.

Barbara's interpretation of Mrs. Gillis is more humorous. She shows Mrs. Gillis as a very sympathetic individual who tries, not too successfully, to hide her good heart.

Eloise Tate as Ruth, Mrs. Gillis' niece, is the only other girl in the play. She interprets Ruth as emotionally and mentally young for her age, unaware of great danger when in the midst of it.

Completing the cast are Roy Harris as Mr. Armstrong, a good-natured roomer who wants to be helpful, but who is really more of a nuisance; Alan Rodda, whose part of Mr. Franks, changes the whole twist of the play; Tom Nees as Doug, the grocery boy who is worried about Mrs. Gillis but isn't sure what is wrong; and Ray Arnold, whose small part as a telephone repairman, brings on the climax of the play.

Setting for the play is an old Victorian house in the midst of a large, modern city. Action takes place in two rooms simultaneously, but it is synchronized so that it is not distracting to the audience.

SLAs Win 100 Points in Basketball Jamboree

"King Neptune's SLAs" copped top honors and 100 points towards the coveted Loving Cup at Friday night's Jamboree. Painted backdrops of underwater scenes set the pace for the winning decorations. Crowns worn by each SLA served to further carry out their theme.

Taking second place was that "old gang" the ADPs with the theme of "Hail Hail, the Gang's All Here." An ADP pep band added to the general enthusiasm and spirit of the evening.

The LSPs colors of blue and white were used to carry out their theme "Winter Wonderland."

Fourth place went to those "Cotton Pickin' Olys" with their southern plantation. Oly colors, red and white, were emphasized by bright red bows worn by each Oly. In keeping with their theme our southern friends featured a Dixieland Band.

The Olys were the only society to come out victorious in both boys' and girls' games. The ADPs and the SLAs each won one game. The boys won for the SLAs and the girls won for the ADPs. The LSPs lost both games.

"A Grateful Heart" Is Theme of Annual AWS Banquet

By candlelight Thursday, November 24 at 4:00 p.m. the AWS sponsored the annual Thanksgiving Banquet. The formal affair was held in the Morrison Dining Hall. The theme, "A GRATEFUL Heart", was carried out by the representation of the first Thanksgiving dinner. Pilgrims—mother, father and child—Indian chief, were dressed in black and white with other autumn colors.

Dr. James L. Martin, Assistant Professor of the Division of Philosophy and Religion at the College of Idaho, was guest speaker. Dr. Riley gave the invocation, and Hal Weber was master of ceremonies. Jim Carkhuff sang

Harlem Clowns To be Here Tuesday

You'll want to see the game between NNC and the Harlem Clowns next Tuesday, November 29, at 8:15 p.m.

Manager Al "Runt" Pullins has gathered together a team this year that combines high-caliber basketball playing with laugh-provoking comedy routines. The Clowns specialize in fancy exhibitions; razzle-dazzle ball handling, intricate routines and both planned and impromptu comedy.

Pullins reports that three great stars of the Harlem Clown basketball team of 1952-53 are back in the lineup this year after having spent a couple of seasons in the

"Thanks be to God", and a trio, Mary Wing, Lydia Angier, Eloise Tate, sang also. Colleen Wooten furnished the background music, and Alan Rodda presented a trumpet solo, "We Gather Together." Ardis Manley gave a short reading.

Spirit Morale and Sportsmanship

By Mickey Dean

As the basketball season draws close and actually gets under way this Saturday night, interest and enthusiasm is mounting and a tingle of excitement is felt throughout the campus. It seems that interest in the fortunes of this year's team is higher than ever before. If you feel the need to let off some steam or just feel like shouting, start the season right by attending the game Saturday night and, speaking is a member of the team. I hope we will give you something to shout about.

Last year a student told me she loved basketball but hadn't gone to any games because she had to study. Well, I think it's possible to take a two hour break from studying to support your team and not end on the bench list. In fact you might be a better person because of it. Really your presence is not only appreciated by the team, but by the cheerleaders and members of the band as well. So in the first place attend as many games as possible.

Then when you get there be a booster. Yell and holler as loud as you want to in positive cheering for the team—not in negative derision of the other team or officials. In some years past NNC almost had a reputation for being umpire "baiters", which even affected the players, but since then has made great improvement in changing this negative aspect into positive sportsmanship.

This year's team is striving as a group to exemplify the character worthy of NNC and if you've ever played ball, you know how much it means to have the 100% backing of the student body. In short I would say, be a contributor to the total NNC spirit and morale, by being a booster of the team.

Words

by Jan Johnson

Ladies of the court—

My, my, but those Paris Winter Fashions are extreme! That ruby-red upside down pop bottle creation by Christian Dior was kind of cute though. Guess he changed his mind about his creations of last time, which were straight from shoulder to hem. (or did they have a hem? I didn't notice). Anyway, I still like my calico dress.

Fath designed a black evening dress with enormous puff sleeves and two pink roses on the shoulder, which I hear is just "irresistible."

Oh, yes, and the latest blue-bunny coat is priced at only 325 francs, which is a fabulous buy considering the savings we all made when we bought those calico dresses last year. I've been awfully cold this winter—but, my, it's been worth it.

And, too, I don't really know if Dior had anything to do with it but the ladies are knitting Argyle socks again this Christmas. That sure is the pink limit! Our "stocking" club last Christmas signed our names in blood that we'd never do it again, and we meant it. BUT—we changed our minds. Such a conglomeration of raggedy socks I've never seen!

Anyway, I hope the gentlemen are still with us, as I have the most exciting news about Liberace. I hear he can't play the piano, but that porcelain doll is a terrific dresser! He has begun wearing some "cheaters" designed by Rudolph. I don't know who Rudolph is, nor do I know who nameth "cheaters" "cheaters", but I hear

Carl Palangi to Be Featured Nov. 28

CARL PALANGI

Carl Palangi, popular young bass-baritone who will sing Monday evening at 8:00 p.m. o'clock at Northwest Nazarene College auditorium under the auspices of the Nampa Civic Music Association, has been widely acclaimed for his triple starring in opera, concert and television. Known for his regal performance as the Tsar in Boris Godunoff, Mr. Palangi has proved equally successful as actor and singer in such strongly contrasting roles as Don Giovanni, Mephistopheles and Jabez Stone in The Devil and Daniel Webster.

Winner of the San Francisco Music Critics' award, Mr. Palangi has been a featured soloist with the San Diego Philharmonic and other West Coast orchestras. He is a member of the San Francisco Opera Company, the Stanford University Opera, and in radio and television. On his last visit to Europe, Palangi received flattering opera and film offers in France and Italy, but returned to the United States to increase his already extensive repertoire of roles.

Mr. Palangi has been signed for television films with a 70 piece orchestra under the direction of Werner Janssen, who enthusiastically describes Palangi as "A young Gable with the voice of a Pinza."

they're peachy keen.

Say, I'm getting all wound up here, and my words cometh out all sidewise. I shall close with a reminder to keep your eyes, ears, mouths open for news of the latest in calico.

Yours truly,

Proposed Amendment Submitted

(Editor's note)

This proposed amendment was submitted to the student council and is now being considered by each member.

Each member of the associated students who is of college classification, including the graduate student and the special student, shall be allowed to participate only in any election of the associated students in which a person of college classification is being selected for office in that association, or for some other position of honor in the college such as that of cheer-leader or Tip-off Queen.

Each member of the associated students who is of high school classification, shall be allowed to participate only in any election of the Associate Students, in which a person of high school classification is being selected for office in the high school, or for some other position of honor in the high school such as cheer-leader or Tip-off Queen.

An amendment must be passed by the Student Council, the Administrative Council and the student before it can be written into the constitution. Consider this, and other voting matters, carefully and be ready to vote intelligently.

NNC Defeats Airmen

More than a hundred fans came out Monday night to watch the Crusaders meet their first outside competition of the season in a scrimmage game with the Airmen from Mountain Home Air Base.

And I doubt if any of them went away disappointed with this year's Crusader squad.

Although the squad didn't work any plays—probably because there was a College of Idaho delegation in the crowd—it did show many things to make an opposing team sit up and take notice.

For one thing there was that evenly balanced five that started the game for NNC, composed of Jay Dean, Mickey Dean, Dave Gardner, Duane Peppley and Hal Weber. Any one of the boys could end up as high point man if the defense should let down a little or they should get hot.

Another thing the practice game showed was the effect the new wide free throw lane will have an offensive play. Against the Airmen the Crusaders used a double post. Jay Dean and Gardner worked under the board for the first unit, Kinzler and Reisch for the second team, and Norman Blair and Al Freeman for the third unit.

Using this double post the offensive team is actually divided into two centers and three forwards.

The shooting percentages of the Crusaders were exceptionally high for this time of the season. On field goals they hit 33 out of 96 for a .344 percentage. On free throws they were also hot making 32 out of 43 for a .744 average.

In the rebound department one player, Jay Dean, stands out. Jay grabbed 15 defensive rebounds and seven offensive rebounds for a total of 22. Next in line was Reisch who pulled down seven on defense and six on offense for a total of 13.

JVs vs. Alumni Tomorrow Night

Coach Hills urges every NNC alumni interested in playing on the Alumni basketball team which will meet the Crusaders' junior varsity at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow night, to contact him today or tomorrow. Those participating should be prompt. The JV. vs. Alumni game will be the preliminary to the Crusader-Westminster contest.

SLAs Beat LSPs in Annual Jamboree

The SLAs routed the LSPs in the first boys' game of the annual Basketball Jamboree, Saturday November 19, 52 to 22.

Lead by their athletic director, Clif Oleson and two ex-varsity players, Woody Beukelman and Bob Cantonwine, the SLAs had little trouble with the hapless LSPs.

The SLAs controlled both backboards with their superior height and were in complete command of the game from the opening tip-off until the final buzzer sounded.

High scorer for the game was Woody Beukelman with 13 points. Close behind were Cif Oleson with 12 and LSP Glen Gertson with 11.

Olys Defeat ADPs 47-29

The Olys out-played the ADPs in the final game Jamboree Night as the Red and White won easily 47 to 29. The ADPs took the lead with a quick first basket but from then on it was the Olys' ball game.

At the start of the second half the ADPs pulled to within 5 points of the Olys but lagged back as the Olys took over and finished strong.

Harold Stickney for the Olys and Del Gish of the ADPs were top scorers with 18 points apiece. Other double figure scores were Duane Olson with 11 points and Bob Willard with 10.

HARLEM CLOWNS

They are Ed "Rookie" Carter, George Moore and Bob Woods.

George Moore of New York City is the smallest man on the team at an even six feet in height and weighing 170 pounds. He first came to the Clowns in 1951 from Lincoln University. He is a superb showman and tricky ball handler and a dead eye set shot artist.

Edward Carter, the rookie of the 1951-52 ball club is six feet two inches tall and weighs 175 pounds. He came directly out of high school to the team, played two seasons and then went into the Army where he was the star on service teams. Carter may develop into the star of this year's club, Pullin states.

Bob Woods, six feet two inches tall, weighing 225 pounds, was a track, football and basketball star at McClymonds High School in Oakland, Calif., and played at Modesto Junior College before joining the Clowns. He played one season and then went into the Army.

The team is a virtual powerhouse. Other players are Ralph Hayes, 6-7, weighing 200, played college ball at Niagara University, Niagara Falls, N. Y.; Manny Kennedy, 6-3 and 180, was an outstanding player at Iona College, New Rochelle, N. Y.; and Al Sutton, 6-3, 185, was a great star at Cal-Poly, San Luis Obispo, Calif., before joining the Clowns.

Prof. Tippitt Addresses Circle "K"

100% attendance characterized the Circle K luncheon held in the Morrison Hall parlor on November 17. Prof. Warnie Tippitt presented a talk about his work in the field of music, and in connection with it, sang a solo. He was accompanied by Prof. Double E. Hill.

Nine-to-Five Club

"What is expected of a secretary in a government position?" Nine-to-Five Club members found the answer at their luncheon held Wednesday noon in Morrison Hall parlor when Joan Ferguson described her experiences as secretary to a colonel in the armed forces. She worked at McClellan Air Force Base in California for over a year.

Marshall Science Society

Jim Witham was the special speaker at the Marshall Science Club meeting Tuesday evening. He spoke on high fidelity in the field of electronics, emphasizing installation. While in the armed forces, Jim spent four years working with radio and he has had two years experience with installation. His hobby at the present time is music reproduction.

Home Economics Club

New Home Ec. Club members were initiated Tuesday evening in an impressive candlelighting meeting. Decorations centered around the club emblem, a Betty lamp. Phyllis Condon explained its significance. Mrs. Aller read a poem. After presenting their membership duties, Carol Hankins, club president, welcomed the new members. Refreshments were served by Robbie Diffie and Dolores Little.

Rev. Kratzer Talks At CMA Meeting

The Collegiate Ministerial Association meeting Tuesday evening featured a talk on the Nampa Ministerial Association by Rev. Raymond Kratzer, president.

Officers for the year are: Clarence Kinzler, president; Morris Weigelt, vice president; Dee Freeborn, secretary; Deb. Laws, treasurer and Richard Hartley, program chairman. Sponsors are: Dr. Corlett; Prof. Reeves; Dr. Hansen and Prof. Sanner.

CWB Covers 400 Miles Each Week

Every week that goes by finds CWB workers a little bit busier. There is so much to be done, and calls are coming from everywhere needing singers, and programs, and group workers.

Groups have been traveling far and wide. Every week-end CWB members cover nearly 400 miles. Jim Martin preached and a quartet of Rosemary Aman, Mary Lou Oldenkamp, Alan Rodda and Dee Freeborn supplied the music for a week-end revival at the Richmond Community Nazarene Church near Caldwell. The meeting began Friday night and ended Sunday night. Recently a trio of CWB supplied the special music for the revival at Marsing. A small

Ann Knapp Wins Speech Contest

"We learn to fear mental illness less by understanding it," concluded Anne Knapp, winner of the speech contest held November 23 in chapel.

Miss Mary Schmitt, local attorney was the judge for the contest.

Anne's speech, entitled "Help for the Living Dead," dealt with the mental illness schizophrenia and the problems faced by those who suffer from this disease.

Second place went to Noel Riley, whose speech was "Albert Schweitzer, Man of the Century." In her speech, Noel revealed that Dr. Schweitzer holds doctor's degrees in the fields of Music, Philosophy, and Theology. Honors which have been bestowed upon him include the Order of Merit and the Nobel Peace Prize.

Three other students participa-group journeyed to Unity, Oregon, where there was also a revival. CWB workers have been used by Boise Southside for their services too.

If you have been hiding those talents, remember that CWB greatly needs your help. It is wonderful the way that God is using our workers in His kingdom.

ting in this contest were Elon Booker, LaDonna Nafziger, and Anna Rose Rives.

In his speech, "Social Drinking," Elon urged each person to live up to his own ideals when placed in a situation where others were partaking of social drinks.

"Motor Madness" was the title of LaDonna's speech in which she gave facts concerning drivers and driving. Among these were that one out of ten people cannot see to drive at night and that women are better drivers than men. She concluded, "If we all drive right there will be more people left."

Anna Rose's speech, "Are We Inferior?" dealt with the age old problem of whether women are equal to men. In concluding her speech, she pointed out that men are the ones who are making all the studies which prove that women are equal with them.

All of the students taking part are enrolled in Speech I.

Today 58 per cent of America's 45,000,000 households are homeowners, compared with 43.6 per cent in 1940, a newspaper survey has revealed.
