ASB President--Which Will it Be?

Jim Martin

By Obed Dahl

Jim Martin, nominee for President of the Associated Student Body, has a heritage steeped in the tradition of N.N.C.

E. E. Martin, Jim's grandfather, was once college pastor at N.N.C. He composed the school song which is still used.

Jim's parents were also graduates of N.N.C. His father, Rev. Ted Martin, is now pastor of the Church of the Nazarene at Hammond, Indiana.

Jim Martin was born in Pasco, Washington. He graduated from York Memorial High School in Toronto, Canada. After spending two years at Olivet College, he felt impelled to come west and complete his education at the College so dear to his family.

Jim is a ministerial student and will be a senior next year. He is majoring in speech. He has been active in debate and is known as a fluent speaker. He is president of the LSP society.

JIM RIDGEWAY

By Ann Coston

Jim Ridgeway, a speech student from Roseburg, Oregon, has been nominated for the office of Student Body President. He will be voted on in the April 9th primary balloting of the associated students.

Jim has done extensive work in student affairs and has seen outstanding success in his ventures. As president of the Christian Workers Band in his sophomore year, he reorganized the club from a struggling group of 30 persons into the most active organization on the campus.

As president of the Chapman Hall dorm council, he worked in developing good relationships among the residents.

LSP pep and spirit were at a new high with Ridgeway as president, and this spirit proved to be contagious with all other societies. The result was a greater interest and participation in society activities among all students.

BILL JACKSON

By M. S. Encarnacion

With the annual student body election in full swing, nominees for the office of student body president were introduced. One of the outstanding individuals accepting nomination was Bill Jackson of Nampa, Idaho.

Bill, popularly known on the campus as, "Jackson" graduated from Walla Walla High School, Walla Walla, Washington. While in high school he held class and society offices to prove his leadership qualities.

Jackson, now a sophomore in college, is planning to finish his college career in 3 years. He plans to have 3 majors by the time he graduates. His major studies are in history, religion, and education.

Since being enrolled in college he has travelled for the school singing in different meetings.

According to Frank Wiley, campaign manager, Jackson is well-qualified for the position of associated student body president.

Now let's hear what the candidate has to say:

"I pledge if elected to do my best to consistently represent N.N.C., to cooperate whole heartedly with the administration and to work for the best interest of the entire student body as the needs and occasion may demand."

NNC from the Linfield Tournament of Champions by taking the first place trophy in original oratory. In the Idaho State contest in Caldwell, Jim and his partner tied for first in junior men's debate while Ridgeway took second in oratory.

His speech activities carried over to extensive interest in society plays, as he played strong roles in "The Calamity Kids" and "A Mighty Fortress".

Concerning the coming year, Ridgeway said, "Group activity is productive activity, when operating with a strong emphasis on cooperation. As president, I will conscientiously work to keep this cooperation".

Lloyd Bellamy

By Roxie Hull

While considering the presidential candidates have you been attracted by the bright colored flags flying about the campus with BELLAMY printed on them?

Lloyd comes from Goldendale, Washington. He graduated with honors from the Goldendale High School in 1953. He was valedictorian of his class, a football letterman, active in dramatics, and an officer of the Boys League. Lloyd was also active in his home church holding the presidency of the Hi-NY for several years.

Coming to NNC in the fall of 1953 Lloyd started as a freshman participating in activities on the campus. During his freshman year he was on the Crusader staff, KROK staff, in a society play, CWB program chairman, Treasurer of the Speech Club, and a member of the Oasis staff. As a sophomore he represented his class on the student council, was in a society play and acted as business manager of the Oasis. This past year as a junior he has served as NYPS president, member of Circle K, and Editor of the Oasis. He has served as a member of the Student Council for the last two years.

By maintaining a high GPA throughout his college career Lloyd is a member of Zeta Kappa Rho.

When talking of plans for the year if elected, Lloyd said, "I will do my best to work to have organized and efficient student government with ample opportunity for each to take part in his choice of activities."

The election of a student-body leader is one of the most important tasks of the school year. NNC students will go to the polls next Monday to cast their votes. Five outstanding men have been nominated for the presidency and the campaign is now in full swing. Feeling that a brief description of the background and qualifications of each candidate would be of interest to our readers, the Crusader assigned five reporters to bring in stories on the personalities up for election.

DEB LAWS

By Kay Van Allen

Delbert Laws, a religious education major from Kelso, Washington, will be a top competitor in the political race for the 1956 Associated Student Body Presidency.

Delbert, better known as "Deb" has held an office in every class since he began his college career in 1953. He was program chairman of the freshman class, vice-president of the sophomore class, and treasurer of the junior class. He was also vice-president of the L.S.P. Society. According to his campaign manager, Clarry Kinsler, "Deb has never shirked his duties, but has always done his very best in fulfilling his offices. He is thorough, punctual, and enthusiastic." Delbert is a letterman in baseball.

Previous to his college days, Deb spent 2 ½ years in the Navy. He returned to finish his junior and senior years of high school, where he gained honorable recognition in baseball, football, and basketball.

Deb was active in his local church as N.Y.P.S. President, and a church board member.

Said Deb, "My platform emphasizes the promotion of student government. I am also highly interested that students take a more active part in student activities." He goes on to say, "I will try to make the high school feel that they are a part of our college." Deb shows his generous character by expressing his deep appreciation to those who have led N.N.C. in the past. His desire: that he may be worthy of walking in their footsteps. Said Delbert, "If elected, I will do my best to be as good a leader as we have had in the past three years."

DEMOCRACY IN ACTION

By Thomas A. Leupp

Have you ever thought what it would be like if you COULD NOT VOTE?

If all of us were able to really grasp this thought we would never allow a single opportunity to vote slip through our fingers.

It is perhaps known to all the students that "what we will become we are now becoming"; however, this is a principle which needs to be stated and re-stated until it becomes an integral part of our thinking. A precept such as this applies to every area of our being.

In substance what is being said is this—the young American who is vitally interested in campus activities and who exercises his Democratic rights in voting for a candidate in every office and for or against every issue that appears on the ballot—this is an American (all things being equal in other respects) who becomes a valuable citizen and a community builder wherever he might live and in whatever profession or business he may choose to enter.

Words and ideas, regardless of how well they are written or spoken, are worthless until they become alive and meaningful in the minds and hearts of individuals. It is the hope of this writer that the Great Concept of Democracy, with all its rights, privileges, and duties, will take on new meaning for us as students today and continue to expand in our thinking so that in the tomorrows, as more mature adults, we will truly be an American with a capital A.

Will YOU vote?

Wally came to NNC two years ago as a freshman. He enrolled in journalism classes last year and was given a job as sports reporter on the Idaho Free Press of Nampa. He has worked at the Free Press ever since writing sports and conducting his own sports column.

Wally has done an excellent job of reporting sports events on the NNC campus. Both students and faculty will miss him and his familiar by-line.

Prof. Sutherland

The life of Francis C. Sutherland, history professor at NNC has been one full of a variety of activities and adventures with a story-book flavor. From serving overseas in World War I, to minister in the great northern frontier of Canada, then to laboring as a missionary in China, and finally to filling his present position as teacher at the college, comprise a few of the experiences in his versatile life.

Prof. Sutherland was born in Canada. After receiving his M. A. degree from McGill University he spent several years teaching and serving as principal of high schools in Quebec.

The coming of World War I found Mr. Sutherland serving his country in the Canadian expeditionary forces. He was a stretcher bearer with the Fourth Division in France. He was wounded in action at Lens.

Mr. Sutherland spent ten eventful years of his life in missionary work for the Church of the Nazarene in China. His missionary duties included the supervision of the Bible School at Taming.

Civil war was rife during his first term in China, from 1920-1926. Feudal-like war lords fought each other and scoured the countryside. Under communist influence, these war leaders accused all Americans of being communists.

After a brief furlough at home, the Sutherlands returned to to China in 1936. Then in 1941, because of troubled conditions, the Sutherlands returned home, just in time to avoid being interned by the Japanese after the Pearl Harbor attack.

JUST GOES TO SHOW YOU

By Richard Reif

I am against moving pictures. Firstly because they are cheap and immoral. Gone With the Windows for instance. This is nothing but trash. A passionate love story that no children under 120 should be allowed to see. Its scenes are filled with nothing but passion, passion, passion. Ugh ah mmmmm Slurp!

I am against moving pictures secondly because of the surroundings. The contamination. The germs and microbes and also the people. We cannot, I repeat, we cannot associate with these globs of flesh, these piles of protoplasm that watch moving pictures. Once we have sat down beside them we have become horribly changed. Ugh. The first sentence has a better topic. Let's go back to it.

Passion, passion, passion.

Thirdly I am against moving pictures because it is evil. Take a show house. The way the bricks are evilly laid together. The cement cruelly crushed, sob, unmercifully between the bricks. The gaudy shocking neon signs. The evil air that is sucked in by illegitimate fans with no screens on them. The deep sensuous carpets that make you shudder, ugh ah mmmmm Slurp! as you walk on them. Everything about them cries evil, evil, evil. Fourth- ('scuse me while I

NNC Baseball

The Crusader nine will be trying for their first win of the season when they meet the College of Idaho squad here at 1:00 Saturday afternoon for a double-header.

The NNC opened their season last Thursday afternoon by dropping both ends of a double header to the Mountain Home Air Force Base Plainsmen, 11-9 and 12-5.

In the opener the Plainsmen gained a 10-run lead before the home team began closing the gap with four runs in their half of the fourth. They continued to bring in the runs whittling the Plainsmen's lead to 10-9 at the end of the sixth inning. A single run in the top of the seventh clinched the contest for the airmen.

The Crusaders outhit the Plainsmen 11 to 5 but eleven errors cost the home team the game. Duane Peppley whacked out a homer in the fifth to lead the Crusaders at the plate. Hurling the first game was Kinyon with Morgan behind the plate.

In the second game the NNC squad moved into the lead with a fourteen run rally in the fourth while the Plainsmen went scoreless. The visitors closed the gap and at the end of seven innings of play the score was knotted at five-all forcing the game into an extra inning until 7 more runs had crossed the plate and defeated the Frazier men 12-5.

Pitching in the second game were Ed Crawford and Cecil Campbell. Catching was Don Crawford. Both teams went errorless in the second game.

Professor Thomas A. Leupp and representatives of the mental hygiene class attended a meeting of Alcoholics Anonymous at the City Hall recently. Accompanying Mr. Leupp were Darrel Reisch, Dean Bottemiller, and Ron Kirkpatrick.

The organization uses the name "Anonymous" because the members know each other by their first names only, Mr. Leupp reported. He said that they have been able to cure 50% of the alcoholics that come to them, in the first few visits. This compares with 2% for the medical profession and 1% for ministers.

The chairman presented Professor Leupp with a book of personal testimonials.
