Named to reign in the 1959 Homecoming court are Ruby Keating, Connie Hill, Jan Kellom, Lynn Riley, and Joyce Oldenkamp. They were selected by student body vote from among 20 candidates vying for this honor.

One of the five candidates will be named queen. The other four will be princesses.

The identity of the queen will be revealed at the basketball game against College of Idaho on Jan. 24 at the Nampa High School gymnasium.

Miss Keating is a senior from Colfax, Wash. Her major is home economics. A resident of Morrison Hall and a member of the ADP society, Ruby is this year's president of the Associated Women Students and was selected to "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities."

Connie Hill is a business major from Marsing, Idaho. She is a member of the ADP society and resides in Morrison Hall. After working in Seattle last year, Connie has returned to NNC this year as a junior in classification.

A major in elementary education, Jan Kellom claims Rapid City, S. Dak., as her home town. Jan is a member of the Athenian society and a resident of Morrison Hall. Jan has been a member of Crusader Choir for the past three years, and is classified as a junior.

Lynn Riley, a sophomore transfer from Eastern Nazarene College, is a local resident. The daughter of NNC's president, Dr. John E. Riley, is majoring in literature. She is a member of the LSP society and played a leading part in "A Mighty Fortress" this semester.

Joyce Oldenkamp is an elementary education major. Joyce is a resident of Mangum Hall and a member of the Athenian society. Tillamook, Ore. is her home town. Of sophomore standing, Joyce has served as secretary to the dean of students the past two years.

HOMECOMING DATE SET FOR JAN. 24 AT NAMPA HIGH

Preparations for NNC's annual Homecoming will cease Jan. 24 and faculty, alumni, and students will no longer wonder who will be named NNC's 1959 Homecoming queen.

Homecoming will be held Jan. 24 at Nampa High School gymnasium. The queen will toss out the basketball to start the game between NNC's Crusaders and College of Idaho's Coyotes.

Plans for this highlighted event were made this year by the student council. Larry Hull and Jim Nevin acted as co-chairmen in delegating duties for the much-looked-forward-to affair.

After the game, a semi-formal reception will be held in Morrison dining hall. The reception is a date affair and is under the direction of the Men's Club and Associated Women Students. Larry Halter will act as master of ceremonies.

Other service clubs working on Homecoming are N Club, Gamma Nu Gamma, and Beta Chi Alpha.

Camp Cookery Course Added To New Curriculum

Among the new courses being offered next semester is a course in camp cookery. This is a course in food preparation for men including basic principles of cookery to be used around the campfire. It is a two-credit course.

Advanced composition is being offered for two credits. This course is a review of the field of grammar open to upper division students, particularly prospective teachers and ministers. Structural as well as functional grammar, sentence and paragraph structure, and the organization of material for longer papers will be studied.

Three new physical education activity classes are being offered: trampoline (men); tumbling, track and field (women); and intermediate archery, tennis (co-educational). Three new theory classes are techniques of coaching track; techniques of coaching baseball, and athletic injuries and conditioning. All of these theory classes are two-credit classes.

A new theology class, the holiness pulpit, stresses guidance in the preaching ministry needed in a holiness church. Special opportunity will be provided for preaching in the churches of the area.

This year registration officials are planning a somewhat different approach to registration. After materials are passed out and instructions given pertaining to basic questions, students will go to departmental meetings and discuss questions on a departmental basis.

Those students who wish to go to summer school will be asked to determine what they will need so that a tentative schedule can be set up.

Scriblerus Picks Theme For Year

New Group Invades Management House

With the beginning of the new semester on Jan. 28, five girls will be moving into the Home Management House.

Included in this group of home economics majors are seniors Ruby Keating from Colfax, Wash.; Roberta Miller, Bremerton, Wash.; Marilyn Poole, Arago, Ore.; juniors Myrna Dean and Mary Lou Bohl, both of Medford, Ore.

The second nine weeks another group will take over the management of the house. The three girls in the second group are of junior classification.

They include Arlis Fulgham and Joan Haines of Grandview, Wash.; and Joan Ogburn of Modesto, Calif.

The present group will be finishing their work in the house this week. Miss Rhodes, head resident, reports that they are planning one of their family group projects for Jan. 19. The group will go to Boise to dinner and then shop for items for the house.

Approximately 70 students will display work done this semester in NNC art courses. The exhibit will be held in the Fine Arts building on the campus Jan. 20-31. The building will be open from 8 a. m. to 9 p. m. every day except Sunday.

Experiences with glazes on plywood will be displayed by Lorna Read, a junior majoring in art. Also of interest will be the project for art history that Lorna is displaying. It was inspired from her study of cubism and is done in encaustic medium. Encaustic is one of the oldest and most permanent painting mediums which involves the use of color in wax applied while hot.

A striking picture which was inspired from Cezanne's composition will be shown by Don Thompson, a senior who is taking his first art work.

Myrna Brebner, a sophomore, will exhibit her painting of "Sauki." This work reflects a slight Van Gogh influence. Another painting is Alta Peck's "Plant" with a "truth to observation."

Besides painting the exhibit will include displays from the beginning design and drawing classes, creative chalk, lettering, silk screen printing, art methods for elementary school, church school art and sculpturing.

FBLA SPONSORS BUSINESS FILM

"Mr. Webster Takes Stock" is the title of the film to be shown at 8 p. m. on Jan. 26 in the chapel. This film is sponsored by The Future Business Leaders of America club.

A discussion period will follow the film. The two evening courses to be offered second semester by the business department will be the featured topic.

Rev. Bennett is now on his first furlough since going to Japan in 1953. He is a graduate of NNC and graduated from the Nazarene Theological Seminary in 1952.

For several years the family of Dr. and Mrs. T. E. Mangum, Sr., have sponsored this annual series of Missionary lecture in honor of their parents.

As yet there is no schedule, but the speakers will alternate speaking in chapel and will be available for class or organization meetings and for personal conferences.

Northwest Nazarene College has received a $2,000 grant from the Esso Education Foundation.

Chairman Eugene Holman of the foundation said grants totaling $1,423,000 are being made to 350 institutions in the current academic year.

The College of Idaho in Caldwell also received a grant.

This year's program, said Holman, brings to about $5,500,000 the grants made by the Esso Education Foundation in its four-year existence to privately-supported colleges and universities in the U. S.

Grants to NNC and the C of I are unrestricted.

★★ Editorial Comment ★★

WHAT ABOUT WAITRESSING?

Never underestimate the power of a minority group! Especially when that group is the one responsible for serving you your daily food requirements. Since a minority group on campus is now uppermost in my thoughts, and has been quite frequently through this semester, this editorial is directed to this group.

Before the type pounds out some keys of sarcasm, it would first compliment those waitresses in the Coffee Shop who do a good job and tend to their business. You should know that you are appreciated by those whom you serve.

However, since this is not just a personal gripe of my own—it's shared by several others of the female sex especially—I feel justified in pleading our cause through this medium of communication.

When a person goes in to eat, and sits there for anywhere from ten to forty-five minutes—this is not an exaggeration—without being waited on, her blood pressure has risen so high that she no longer cares to eat. This is the condition of the fairer sex as they calmly sit and the waitresses wait on the males who came in anywhere from ten to twenty minutes later than they did.

This state of high blood pressure also occurs when you sit in a booth trying to catch the eye of one of those three waitresses who are talking behind the counter with their heads turning every way but in your direction. We won't mention the times we've rescued our food from sitting on the counter for many minutes after being dished up. Cold meals don't taste too hot!

This writer realizes that there are times when a wait of five minutes or so is excusable, but it is also my sentiment that there could be more efficiency shown in the waitressing jobs.

Please, could we ask for a little more consideration so that we won't have to allot an hour and a half for each meal of the day?

YOUR PRESIDENT SPEAKS

YOUR LIBRARY IS NOT TOO SMALL

By JACK WRIGHT

Here at NNC where sometimes "smallness is next to Godliness" a fledgeling freshman might be tempted to look at our library and wonder if its 50,000 volumes will last him four years.

Take heart, boy wonder, for you have at your fingertips more material than the library at Alexandria, Plato's academy, or the Caldwell public library.

Let's take an everyday, down-to-earth situation. Your grandmother is dying and says, "Horatio, I'm going fast, but before I go there are three things I want you to promise me. First, don't drink; second, no smoking; and third, I want you to write a term paper on your grandfather who was unjustly hung as a horse thief while riding with Teddy Roosevelt and his rough riders."

Naturally the first place you go is the card catalog and to your utter amazement there have been no books written on this subject. In the bibliography of a borrowed history book you stumble upon a couple of likely sounding works. But, alas, we do not have them in the library.

Here is where Miss Lancaster and her staff come to your rescue via the inter-library loan. Your request is sent to the Pacific Northwest Bibliography Center where an FBI-like crew of librarians start tracing your book. The card catalog now contains 3,300,000 author cards, which serve as a guide to the resources of the major libraries of the Pacific Northwest as well as the Library of Congress and the John Crear Library.

Within the region more than 6,000,000 volumes are thereby made available to the scholar, research worker, and businessman.

This center receives financial support from more than 160 libraries.

Finally your books arrive, and you send no money, there are no boxtops to tear off—you simply pay the postage and thank the librarians for their work.

Your library is bigger than you think.

Mrs. Waller, Music Head, Says "Everyone Needs Music, Art"

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Waller

By RUTH OLIN

Mrs. Delores Bloomquist Waller is acting head of the music department while Prof. Double E. Hill is on leave. Marvin Bloomquist, her younger brother, is also on the staff of the music department. A twin sister lives in Fort Benton, Mont., and another brother lives here in Nampa with his wife and family.

This petite brunette with blue eyes and dimples holds a Master of Music Education degree from the University of Idaho. This semester she taught elementary music methods, basic conducting, treble choir, organ and piano. She is now in her fifth year of teaching here.

Husband Tom

Mrs. Waller met her husband, Tom, at College Church during her first year of teaching. He is an auditor for the Internal Revenue but would rather talk about "Cessna 180" which is an airplane of which he is half owner. "I go places with him," was Mrs. Waller's reply when asked how she liked the airplane.

The lovely home in which the Wallers live was designed by Mr. Waller and he helped build it shortly after being in the service. Next to her music, Mrs. Waller enjoys most of her leisure time in her home. Husband Tom furnishes the Wallers with an ample meat supply by means of successful hunting trips. This year he bagged a five-point bull elk that dressed out to 500 pounds.

Since the writer is a member of treble choir, an interview was hardly necessary because my admiration of her as a teacher has grown with each day spent in class. Mrs. Waller believes in packing as much into a class period as can possibly be squeezed; yet her sense of humor and poise are always present in good measure.

Classes and Activities

As a teacher, Mrs. Waller feels there are few students as keenly interested in their class work as their teachers are. Her advice to NNC students would be: "Don't procrastinate—do it today. College people should be mature enough to do something because they know it is good for them. They should learn to finish what they start because it is worth doing." She also feels that some students put their studying last and have too many activities so that little studying is accomplished.

Necessity of Music

"Everyone needs music and arts in general because it helps them get away from the stress and strain of everyday living. The arts have spiritual value and help us think upon the intellectual level rather than on the material level," explained Mrs. Waller in response to inquiry about what music can do for the non-music major.

Mrs. Waller's daily living reflects the Christ she serves and my own life has been richer for having received some of the reflections.

Miss Demmer Advises Students To "Start Studying Early"

By RUTH OLIN

"Start studying early in the semester and keep it up," was the straightforward word of advice that Miss Juanita L. Demmer would have me pass on to my fellow reader. The number of activities on campus is not the problem in her opinion.

She feels that students should be selective and strive to be well-rounded—this is part of growing up in college. She further commented that education should stimulate a desire to know more and widen our thinking and interests.

This tall silvery blond teacher of languages is completely devoted to her work on our campus. However, her interests do not stop there. Quite the contrary, for I doubt that you could name a hobby or art that would not at least capture the attention of her listening ears.

Interests

Swimming and mountain climbing have taken a good share of her time in past years. Part of the Olympic Mountains in Washington have borne the print of her energetic steps. She has taught tennis and horseshoes and declares she loves scenery. The latter interest may be partially the reason she traveled some 10,000 miles through 30 states on a vacation. More recently gardening has engaged most of her outdoor time. She thinks Nampa is an ideal place to raise both flowers and vegetables and states that she and her friend seldom buy vegetables.

Miss Demmer sews quite a bit and makes most of her own clothes. "What about reading?" I inquired.

"I knew that was coming!" was her quick reply. "I am an omnivorous reader in various languages naturally." Presently she is spending most of her reading time with French literature but she would not commit herself as to any favorite language.

Holds M.A. Degrees

Though she is now in her third year as a teacher here at NNC, she was here previously for two years in 1944 to 1946. She has earned two M.A. degrees, one in Spanish and the other in German. Though she first saw the light of day in Medford, Ore., the sophomore class here on our campus saw the light when they claimed her as their sponsor.

She loves young people and is a natural conversationalist. In addition to her role as a teacher of languages, she is head of the department of foreign languages here at the college.

It is my own impression that Miss Demmer belongs at NNC because God put her here. She herself feels that God called her into the work she is now doing and definitely opened the way for her to be here.

I was not at all surprised when Miss Demmer quoted Romans 8:28 as her favorite scripture verse: "And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are the called according to his purpose."

Hull Advises To Renew Goals And Make Suggestions

By JERRY HULL

As you read this paper you don't need to be reminded that the semester will soon be completed. The things we have learned and the fields of learning that we have explored we hope will leave a lasting imprint on our minds; but the times that we have reached out to help others, and the imprint this has made on the development of our character, is the constant adding of weights that will tip the scale to what we are becoming.

At the beginning of the year almost all of us had many activities that we wanted to participate in and goals that we wanted to reach. But as the year has worn on I'm afraid that these goals have been lost in the cloud of activities and a college schedule.

Renew Goals

So many times at the beginning of this year we heard students say, "I want to help make this a successful year at NNC." I must confess I haven't heard this statement in several months. With one-half of the school days left, let us renew these goals.

In order to make this year more successful we must be willing to share and to assist each other. And we, as a Student Council, desire your help.

Make Suggestions

We encourage you to make your suggestions. Our meetings are open to all who want to attend (7 a. m. each Wed.). Unless we have your help we are working with a handicap and are not able to make the contributions that we could. Unless we improve our campus life our job has not been worthwhile.

So, in a sincere manner, may I ask in behalf of the Student Council for the suggestions and needed support of all of you.

Congratulations to all who have completed another semester. It is a pleasure serving you this year.

Dale Knott and Jim Gongwer appear in white sweaters, black slacks, or black cardigans, white shirts and peggers to support our alma mater's colors.

Thirty hours practice have yielded eight new routines and rhythms to keep things lively in the stands. Working on the yell team is "worse than a marriage contract," says Marilyn Franklin. "You have to cooperate with six rather than just one."

THE MYSTERY of who stuck all the stuff in the cases upstairs in the Administration building has been solved! It really isn't stuff—it's a collection donated to the school between the years of 1920 and 1926 by Mrs. Magill to form the present museum. Mrs. Magill, a relative of the Studebaker family, included family relics in the donation: there is a piece of board from the first barn built in Idaho which was family property, the shoe of an ox which brought them across the prairie and several family letters. Someone with a little time, excellent eyesight and the patience of Job would also find on those dusty shelves a piece of shirt belonging to Amelia Folsom Young, a wife of Brigham Young, a piece of Napoleon's white silk stockings, a piece of calico made in 1812, a piece of bed drapery claimed by Richard III in 1442, and two lengths of ancient handmade lace whose dates were not visible through the dusty glass. Other very unusual sights were several wrought iron candle snuffers and a tray, a copy of McGuffey's Eclectic Spelling book, two handmade glass water bottles which were carried in the War of 1812 by thirsty soldiers, and a lady's hat that was the latest style that same time, several pieces of spun glass, a handmade glass doorknob and an ink stand dating 1850 and 1866, and brass shoulder bars worn by a Southern army officer during the Civil War. Looking around a little more, one might see a copy of the Wednesday Morning Chronicle—Wednesday, February 15, 1797, that is! It was published in London and sold for four pence halfpenny. There was also a powder horn used by Napoleon, the headress of an African king, an Australian aboriginal shield, a part of a Mastadon's tooth, an Atlantic sea horse and a bottled two-headed snake. For someone with a lot of time there are hours of entertainment furnished in these items once characteristic of the Japanese, the American Indians, Asiatic peoples and Eskimos. Ocean life and rock samples are also furnished in abundance. In cleaner, more complimentary surroundings these mostly ignored mementos of people and things far removed would attract a lot of attention. They aren't serving much purpose as they are now.

IF COLLEGE STUDENTS aren't wearing bulky-knit sweaters, plaid jackets or pleated skirts, it's leotards. At NNC we haven't exactly gone "hog wild" over the current fad as have other colleges and universities, but we're coming along nicely. First there were a few courageous Bean waitresses, unmoved by the comments extracted from well-meaning, but completely unfashion-minded souls. Now the style is gaining momentum until quite a number of girls are turning out in the colorful leg warmers. Naturally, various descriptions have been presented concerning them—everything from "hideous" to chic" to "Wellll . . ." Really, though, they're not so bad—once you get used to them. At least it's an improvement over the sacks.

CAN YOU IMAGINE . . . Shelia Wells becoming an American citizen, Don Constable graduating with a major in music, Ralph Neil without his "rooster-tail," Dave Mattson as a basketball player, Carnation as a lady judge, Gordie Olson driving a Model-T, Paul Whitmarsh on the bench, Mr. Byers going an entire day without a coffee break, Nampa's weather behaving for just one week, or Dave Rinker reading a Mad funny book?

activities so that little studying is accomplished.

Necessity of Music

"Everyone needs music and arts in general because it helps them get away from the stress and strain of everyday living. The arts have spiritual value and help us think upon the intellectual level rather than on the material level," explained Mrs. Waller in response to inquiry about what music can do for the non-music major.

Mrs. Waller's daily living reflects the Christ she serves and my own life has been richer for having received some of the reflections.

Letter to the Editor

Editor, Crusader
Northwest Nazarene College

"Yes, Virginia, there is a Homecoming. You have never seen it and perhaps you never may because you represent that host of students who will be scattered to the four corners of the northwest with Christian Worker's Band groups.

"There are several alternatives open to us. We could re-organize CWB into a cheering section and forget about going out at mid-term, or we could disband the basketball team and let Coach Hills lead Sam Willard et. al., in some sort of male chorus.

"Then there is the other avenue of having Homecoming at a date when everyone could come. Having Homecoming at a date other than mid-term would enable over 100 students to see the most important social function of the year. It would strengthen the CWB groups who do go out to hold meetings.

"This would, however, violate tradition. Traditions are nice, until like our gym, they become worn out and useless. Although it is impossible to get the date changed this year, it is my fond hope that the council in charge of tearing pages from the calendar will keep this "conflict of duty" in mind, thus enabling us to live happily ever after."

Yours very truly,
Jack Wright

If Man Should Reach The Moon

I'm sure you've heard or read about,
The Satellites in space,
How Russia and United States,
Are in a rocket race:
To hear them talk it won't be long,
Till space they conquer soon;
And then what next will man attempt,
If he should reach the moon.
If man should ever reach the moon,
There's one thing that is clear.
He'll ruin everything up there,
Just like he has down here;
With sin and crime, with lust and greed;
He's got enough to do,
To clean the mess he's made on earth,
And you know that is true.
The sickness and the want and fear,
The broken hearts and shame;
And hungry millions cry each day,
And man is all to blame.
I think we better set our sights,
Above the moon and space;
And let's explore eternity,
While there is time and grace.
It's not the moon we need to reach,
It's God—who put it there;
The one who went to Calvary
A rugged cross to bear;
For sins of men with wicked hearts,
He died one day at noon,
With faith in Him, you'll have no fear,
If man should reach the moon.

Students In Home Management House Cook, Clean, and Keep Records

By

Louise Weitman and Mary Waller

Most buildings are constructed for a definite purpose and spend their entire lives fulfilling that purpose. Not so our familiar and versatile Briarwood, currently housing the home economics girls in the home management class.

When Dr. H. Orton Wiley had the place built in 1919 as a private home for the college president, it was the first brick structure on campus. Later Dr. Russell V. De-Long occupied it as chief executive of NNC, then sold it to Tom Siegel, a wealthy sheep man from Oregon. The college purchased it from him a few years later. Mr. Siegel is the only person not connected with NNC who has owned the building.

Bought by College

When Briarwood became college property, her era of peace and contentment ended abruptly. Since then she has been a women's dormitory, a men's dormitory, a faculty apartment house and a student apartment house. Sometimes during her apartment days she housed as many as six couples.

Briarwood's basement has seen a variety of activities, too. These range from the ambitious student who raised hamsters down there to the cartoons Abe Bennett so thoughtfully drew all over the walls to entertain students waiting for their clothes to get washed.

Anna Mae Bauerle, acting as head cook, prepares the salad for the evening meal in the home management house.

Aliens Requested To Report Address

The Department of Justice Immigration and Naturalization Service has requested the Crusader to publish the following release:

"All aliens in the U. S., except a few diplomats, accredited members of certain international organizations and those admitted temporarily as agricultural laborers, must report their addresses to the government each January.

"Forms for this purpose are available at any Post Office or office of the U. S. Immigration and Naturalization Service. They may be filled out in those offices and returned to the clerk from whom received. Parents or guardians are required to submit reports for alien children under fourteen years of age.

"If you or any member of your immediate family are not citizens of the U. S. you should tell your parents of these requirements. If you have relatives or friends who are not citizens, you will do both them and the government a great service by telling them of the requirements."

Dr. Thelma B. Culver To Attend Conference

Dr. Thelma B. Culver, dean of the college and head of the department of education, will represent NNC at a conference of the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education. This conference will be held Feb. 12-14.

"What is expected of Teacher Education," will be the theme of the conference. The members of the AACTE will discuss the problems of teacher education, keeping in mind the recent attacks made upon the American education system.

Events scheduled for the conference include an opening report on the year's accomplishments by President Harvey M. Rice, and a talk on "What Does the School Administrator Expect of Teacher Education?" by Benjamin C. Willis, General Superintendent of Schools.

This is the 11th annual meeting of the AACTE and will be held at the Conrad Hilton in Chicago, Ill. Also during this time concurrent meetings of the Association of Student Teachers, the National Association for Business Teacher Education, and the National Society of College Teachers of Education will be held.

Pep Band Takes Annual Trip

Leaving last week on their annual trip were members of NNC's pep band. The group left Jan. 8 and returned to Nampa on Jan. 11.

The band was featured on Jan. 8 at Kennewick Church of the Nazarene. On Jan. 11 they played in the morning worship service at the First Church of the Nazarene in Seattle.

The group attended the two-game basketball series last weekend between the NNC Crusaders and the Seattle Pacific Falcons in Seattle. The band furnished music at the games on both Friday and Saturday nights. Band director John Eby and Mrs. Eby accompanied the some 20 members of the group. This trip marked the third annual out-of-town tour for the bandsmen. In previous years the group traveled to Walla Walla, Wash., and to Medford and Ashland, Ore.

President of the pep band is Ray Colson of Grants Pass, Ore. Ron Van Order of Nampa is vice president and business manager; June Todd of Kennewick, Wash., is secretary-treasurer; and Janet Wagg of Vale, Ore., librarian.

LIBRARY ADDS NEW BOOKS

Several new books have been added to the library in different fields of intellectual achievements. Some of the outstanding books recently received are in the fields of religion, English, history, and art.

LEONARDO DA VINCI is the new art book added to the NNC library. One will find it beautifully illustrated in detailed colorful plates.

A 28-volume book set entitled THE NICENE AND POST NICENE FATHERS has been added to help students in historical and religious study. Another book dealing with history is THE AMERICAN HERITAGE. This book is about the American Revolution and colorful pictures illustrate different phases of the war.

HISTORY OF THE ENGLISH NOVEL is a volume book set. Miss Lancaster, head librarian, considers this set an aid for the individual in studying and criticizing a novel.

MINISTERIAL STUDENTS HEAR MRS. RILEY TALK

Mrs. John E. Riley, the first lady on the NNC campus, and teacher of the Shepherdess class, chatted with the ministerial students recently on the subject, "Qualities to Look For in Selecting a Preacher's Wife."

First of all, a preacher's wife must be a wife and a homemaker. Other qualifications Mrs. Riley listed were ability to get along with people, poise and social graces, devotion to God, being intelligently compatible with her husband, willingness to work (without recognition), virtuousness, and frankness.

Christmas Weddings

In Vancouver, Wash., the wedding of Kitty White to Al Jones took place on Dec. 18.

Naomi Gudmundsen and Ernest Moore were married on Dec. 27 in Portland, Ore.

Lola Mae Myers exchanged vows with Brad Saffell in Caldwell, Idaho, on Dec. 19.

Darlene Hemingway married Russ Hart on Dec. 18 in Sheridan, Wyo.

The marriage of Phyllis Beldon to Keith Jones took place in Spokane, Wash, over the Christmas holidays. Both are former students of NNC.

The wedding of Denice Sherrill of Urbana, Ohio, to Mr. Merwyn Matson of Crystal Lake, Iowa, was Dec. 27. Matson is a senior at NNC.

The college purchased it from him a few years later. Mr. Siegel is the only person not connected with NNC who has owned the building.

Bought by College

When Briarwood became college property, her era of peace and contentment ended abruptly. Since then she has been a women's dormitory, a men's dormitory, a faculty apartment house and a student apartment house. Sometimes during her apartment days she housed as many as six couples.

Briarwood's basement has seen a variety of activities, too. These range from the ambitious student who raised hamsters down there to the cartoons Abe Bennett so thoughtfully drew all over the walls to entertain students waiting for their clothes to get washed.

Serves Requirement

After extensive remodeling this past summer, Briarwood was turned into the Home Management House NNC has needed to qualify her home ec students for certification as home economics teachers. To obtain a teaching certificate in her major field, a student must spend one semester in a place like this, demonstrating the practical application of what she has learned about homemaking.

With Miss Rhodes as head resident, Briarwood's occupants are gaining much practical experience in homemaking along with having all the fun connected with living in such a place.

Duties Delegated

The students take turns being hostess, cook, assistant cook and housekeeper. Some of the duties of the hostess are to keep the house records and to greet the guests. The one assigned as head cook plans, prepares, and serves the meals. Meanwhile, the housekeeper is busy keeping things spic and span. Practical experience is gained in shopping and buying the food.

Judging from all appearances, this role suits the ole house so well, she'll doubtless continue playing it for a good many years to come.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Marks are the parents of a boy, Jay Leon, born Dec. 19. Jay weighed in at 8 lbs. 2 oz. Mr. Marks is a 1958 graduate of NNC. He is doing graduate work at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Mrs. Marks was formerly employed in the registrar's office at NNC.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Weigelt are the parents of a baby girl, Marva Lee, born Jan. 3. Both Mr. and Mrs. Weigelt are NNC graduates. Mr. Weigelt is attending Seminary in Kansas City.

Mr. and Mrs. Merton Thornton are the parents of a baby girl, Deborah Kay, born Jan. 10 at Samaritan Hospital. Mr. Thornton, a junior, is from Bremerton, Wash.

Anna Mae Bauerle, acting as head cook, prepares the salad for the evening meal in the home management house.

POOR JUDGMENT

Theodore Roosevelt once owned a scrappy bulldog named Pete, who went around with a chip on his shoulder. Frequently he picked fights with bigger dogs and was mauled severely. One day, when his master was chatting with the French Ambassador on the White House lawn, Pete came limping through the gate, obviously having come off the second best in a scrap.

"I see your dog is a poor fighter," said the Ambassador.

"No, he's a very good fighter," Roosevelt replied. "He's just a terrible judge of dogs."—Milwaukee Journal.

BED

The day has broken soft and rosy,
And I within my bed all cozy
Think of classes I should attend
And thus my stay in bed would end.
But I this morn quite tired feel,
And as I rise my senses reel
And bed, it beckons soft and lazy
I fall back in, my brain's all hazy.
And sleep gently wraps its arms around me
And in first class no one has found me;
For I within my bed recline
And fain would sleep till end of time.
But 'larms are made for brains all hazy
And once again it rings like crazy.
And I within my soft bed groan
The clock across the room is thrown.
Once more I rise with head all groggy
And wash my face till it feels soggy.
Then grabbing books I speed my pace
And go out, the fair world to face.
I've studied long and hard and soon
I'll make debut to English room
And take a test which seals my doom;
Then back to bed to sleep till noon.

By BOB LONGANECKER

The intramural moguls have the cage season well in hand and are easing into the last stages of the first round.

As this issue goes to press three games remain with no make-ups or forfeits. After semester exams, play will resume with another round of real old fashioned basketball.

One fellow asked me just the other day why they played football in the gym when we have an athletic field. Seems this was a foreign student who didn't quite understand intramural basketball.

The scorebook tallies the LSP men the winningest team. In fact they've swept the league without defeat. If the LSP's weren't around the teams would be pretty even, in fact, four teams have won two and lost about the same.

The Oly's decided after dropping four straight that Captain Elon Booker ought to get Wilt Chamberlain's phone number in case they should need him.

If anyone hears of an inter-collegiate intramural tournament within 25 miles of Nampa, we might talk to Mr. L. Wesley Johnson about a loan and send the LSP

Letter Commends Basketball Squad

Editor's Note: The following letter was written to the Coach and Basketball Team of Northwest Nazarene College after the first game of the Seattle series. NNC lost 63-61. We thought this letter deserved to be read by all of our subscribers.

"We, the student body of Seattle Pacific College, wish to commend you on your good sportsmanship and fine Christian attitude in last night's contest. It was one of the most outstanding games we have seen in some time, and realize that it must have been a difficult one to lose.

"We sincerely appreciate the true Christian character displayed by the members of your team, and the absence of any action by them that would appear unsportsmanlike.

Hoopsters Split Seattle Series

Enjoying a well-balanced scoring attack, the NNC Crusaders bucketed a 70-62 victory over Seattle Pacific's Falcons last weekend. The Crusaders split the two-game series with the Seattle college played on the Seattle floor.

In the first game the Falcons of Seattle Pacific grabbed the victory in the last five seconds of play as Orville Anderson tipped in a shot which had gone astray. The tip-in gave SPC a 63-61 win.

For NNC Tom Tracy led the scoring parade with 19 points followed by teammate Bob Peppley who canned 15 points.

Crusaders Win

The second game of the series started slow and at half-time the Falcons led the Crusaders 28-24. Displaying a well-balanced attack, the Crusaders overtook SPC and went on to post their eighth victory of the season by a score of 70-62.

Willard Paces Team

Sam Willard, hitting for 15 points, paced the Crusaders. He was followed by Peppley, Tracy, and Gene Oberg who each had 13 points, and Freeman who hit 10.

Tracy Hits 32

Tom Tracy was NNC's top scorer with 32 points for the series. Tracy was topped by Anderson of SPC in the scoring parade as the Falcon center hit 46 points in the two games.

Crusaders Down Missionaries 79-50

Avenging a previous loss, the NNC Crusaders defeated the Whitman Missionaries Jan. 15 by a score of 79-50. The game was played at Central gym in Nampa.

NNC was paced by Bob Peppley who hit 16 points. Trailing in the early minutes of the game, the Crusaders effectively used a fast break to catch the Missionaries and take the lead.

Tom Tracy hit for 15 points; Gene Oberg, 11 points; and Phil White, 10 points. The closest the Whitman team ever came to NNC was at 58-50.

"—SO I ASKED HIM WHY HE PUT ME ON TH' THIRD TEAM, AN' HE SAID: BECAUSE WE DONT HAVE A FOURTH."

Via "Grad Tidings" Christmas vacation brought news from several alums who not too many years ago occupied the chapel seats and beanery stools at NNC.

William Osterhout

Now applying for a teaching fellowship at Fordham is William Osterhout. A history major who married his college language professor (Miss Eunice McPherson), Bill is now teaching mathematics in New Jersey. After leaving NNC he obtained his M.Ed. at Lewis and Clark in Portland where he made a GPA of 3.57 and scored in the 99th percentile on the Graduate Record Examination.

Misses Atkinson; Newgard

Teaching in the Seattle public schools are Jan Atkinson and Carol Newgard. "A Mighty Fortress" brought memories of these two lively lassies to several this year as Carol directed the production when she was a senior at NNC and Jan played a leading role. Carol is teaching first grade and Jan is teaching second grade. Writes Jan, "I have been so thankful that I had a strict critic teacher who was strong on discipline."

William Wilson

Now in his third year as a consultant for the Contra Costa County schools in California is William C. Wilson, brother of the Crusader's Miss Helen Wilson. In between arranging conferences for teachers of music and mathematics, Bill is now hard at work on his Ed.D. in elementary education at the University of California. He has completed his course work and is beginning his dissertation. Incidentally, Miss Wilson reports that her 15-year-old nephew who plans to come to NNC and major in biology with Dr. Aller has now recruited another biology major and has him headed NNC-ward.

other day why they played football in the gym when we have an athletic field. Seems this was a foreign student who didn't quite understand intramural basketball.

The scorebook tallies the LSP men the winningest team. In fact they've swept the league without defeat. If the LSP's weren't around the teams would be pretty even, in fact, four teams have won two and lost about the same.

The Oly's decided after dropping four straight that Captain Elon Booker ought to get Wilt Chamberlain's phone number in case they should need him.

If anyone hears of an intercollegiate intramural tournament within 25 miles of Nampa, we might talk to Mr. L. Wesley Johnson about a loan and send the LSP gentlemen. Keep your ears open and please be nice to Mr. Johnson.

Rev. Merrill Bennett

Bringing some of the messages for the Mangum Missionary Lectures and workshop next month will be the Rev. Merrill "Abe" Bennett, former NNC student body president and creator of the Olympian society's steam-roller. When Bennett left the campus he bequeathed the "roller" to Miss Wilson who reports that the artifact was inadvertently destroyed by an unappreciative crew who helped her when she changed offices.

Editor's Note: The following letter was written to the Coach and Basketball Team of Northwest Nazarene College after the first game of the Seattle series. NNC lost 63-61. We thought this letter deserved to be read by all of our subscribers.

"We, the student body of Seattle Pacific College, wish to commend you on your good sportsmanship and fine Christian attitude in last night's contest. It was one of the most outstanding games we have seen in some time, and realize that it must have been a difficult one to lose.

"We sincerely appreciate the true Christian character displayed by the members of your team, and the absence of any action by them that would appear unsportsmanlike.

"Congratulations on your excellent playing."

Sincerely,
The Students of Seattle Pacific College
